Mrs. Johnson Due In Marin For Dedication

Miller Family Also To Be At Seashore Rites

Lady Bird Johnson's airborne visit to Marin County will begin at 3:30 p.m. tomorrow when her chartered American Airlines jet touches down at Hamilton Air Force Base.

The nation's first lady, accompanied by a party which includes Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall and his wife, will be greeted at the base by Gov. and Mrs. Edmund G. Brown and the Marin residents who elect to see her there rather than at the dedication of Point Reyes National Seashore.

BRIEF SPEECH

Mrs. Johnson will make a brief speech from a platform being erected near the base runway, then take a 16-minute helicopter trip to Drake's Beach, where she will dedicate the Point Reyes National Seashore at 4 p.m.

Among the thousands of spectators expected to throng the beach for the ceremonies are the family of the late Rep. Clement W. Miller Jr., who initiated legislation for the national seashore. His mother, Mrs. Clement W. Miller Sr. of San Francisco, will be there, as well as his wife Katherine, now Mrs. Stuart Johnson of Washington, D.C., and his five daughters.

As Mrs. Johnson and her party set down on landing pads installed by the Marin County Public Works Department for the three chartered SFO helicopters, they will be greeted with music by the Terra Linda and Tomales High School bands.

HORSEBACK GROUP

Mrs. William F. McCall of Greenbrae, president of Region 1 of the California State Horsemen's Assn., said her organization will be represented at the dedication by a contingent on horseback.

The National Park Service said normal use of Drake's Beach will be curtailed tomorrow because of the dedication. Special parking and access arrangements have been made to handle the thousands expected to attend the ceremonies, a spokesman said.

He urged those attending the ceremonies to leave early to allow time for safely negotiating the routes into the beach. Park rangers will direct visitors to the dedication area from a point on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard nine and one-half miles from Inverness.

Following the dedication, Mrs. Johnson will fly by helicopter to the Presidio in San Francisco. She will stay the night at the Fairmont Hotel and attend the opening of San Francisco's opera season.

On Wednesday, she will fly to Monterey and be driven from there down the scenic Shoreline Highway to the Hearst Castle at San Simeon, where she will spend the night. She will fly to Arizona Thursday.

Bolinas Lagoon Island Proposed

Creation of an island in Bolinas Lagoon for boat berths, swimming beaches, and parks was the central feature of a master plan for the lagoon proposed Saturday by Norman T. Gilroy, Mill Valley architect.

The plan was unveiled at a hearing held by the Bolinas Harbor Commission at Bolinas Community Center.

Dredging of the lagoon, to prevent further siltation, would add 40 acres to an existing 105-acre island, Gilroy explained. Connected to the east shore by a toll bridge, the island would have berths for 1,000 boats, including 100 commercial fishing boats.

The plan would extend the wildlife preserve maintained by the Audubon Society in the north end of the lagoon, and would provide facilities for observation of wildlife.

Dredging also would create several small islands, four of which would be for a salt-water arboretum connected by boardwalks.

A second marina in the south end of the lagoon would provide 400 berths.

A crescent-shaped boating lagoon would be provided in the middle of the lagoon.

Eighty-five per cent of the lagoon would be left as open space, Gilroy said, and 75 per cent of the perimeter would be left open for public access to the lagoon.

Estimates of the cost of implementing the plan will be made Thursday at a commission hearing on the plan at 8 p.m. at Stinson Beach Community Center. Gilroy said implementation would take about 15 years.

Court Action Sought

RICHMOND (AP) — Some 200 AFL-CIO teachers struck 60 schools in the Richmond Unified School District today, compounding difficulties created by a strike called last week by non-teaching employees.

Although school officials said "attendance was down slightly," they said they would operate all schools on as normal a basis as possible and replace the striking teachers with certificated administrative employees.

FIRST TIME

Contra Costa County District Atty. John Nedjedly announced he would go into court today to ask for an injunction to prohibit the two striking unions from interfering with school operations.

This is the first time California teachers have gone on strike to enforce demands on a school board.

The strike today was called by Local 866 of the American Federation of Teachers, which represents a fraction of the 1,677 teachers in the district. School officials had no exact figures but indicated most of the non-union teachers were on duty. Some pupils — just how many had not been ascertained — refused to cross picket lines.

OTHER UNION

Meanwhile, negotiations continued among the striking unions, school officials and a state conciliator.

The other union which struck last week was Local 1675 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes, also AFL-CIO. The striking teachers had supported the nonteaching union strikers from the start of their walkout on Sept. 12.

The teachers union, recently granted a 2 per cent pay increase, is demanding now that this increase be used to finance smaller classes and improved school libraries, as well as give the union greater representation on a board that negotiates working conditions.

MORE MEMBERS

The Association of Richmond Educators which is non-union, claims more members and has much greater representation on the board.

Striking non - teaching employes seek pay boosts of from 5 to 10 per cent on salaries which now range from $340 to $450 a month.

No class has been closed as a result of the walkout and the board said it expected the 44,000 students to be at their desks today.

The district has schools in El Sobrante, Pinole and Kensington, all in the San Francisco East Bay Area.

Astronauts, Families Reunited

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Beaming happily, the Gemini 11 astronauts came home today to a joyous reunion with their families and hearty handshakes from space officials, all anxious to hear details of a historic orbital journey.

The children of Navy Cmdr. Charles Conrad Jr. and Lt. Cmdr. Richard F. Gordon Jr. literally hogged the show, running up the ramp of the plane and through the door with cires of "Daddy, daddy," for their fathers.

Gordon has six children, Conrad four.

"Congratulations," said Dr. Robert R. Gilruth, director of the Manned Spacecraft Center.

"We had a lot of fun up there," said Gordon.

Charles Mathews, Gemini project manager, stepped up and said: "That was a real gasser."

"We had a most thrilling flight," said Gordon. "And we'll be telling everybody about it the rest of this week.

Conrad and Gordon arrived from Cape Kennedy, Fla.

Surveyor 2 Set Hit Moon's Face

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —The National Aeronautics and Space Administration plans tomorrow to launch Surveyor 2 toward a soft landing in the center of the moon's visible face to explore a potential manned landing spot.

An Atlas-Centaur rocket is to boost the 2,204-pound spacecraft skyward during a 43-minute favorable period starting at 7:46 a.m. EDT. The three-legged, camera-carrying vehicle is to cover the quarter-million-mile course in 63 hours, aiming for a feathery touchdown in the Sinus Medii (Central Bay) Thursday night.

The target is about 800 miles east of the Ocean of Storms where Surveyor 1, America's first lunar soft-lander, touched down in June.

Court Orders Officials To Protect Negroes

By JOHN M. PEARCE

GRENADA, Miss. (AP) — Nearly 170 Negro pupils passed through police lines today and began their second week of integrated classes at formerly all-white schools. White crowds, who taunted and beat the Negroes last week, were absent.

City officials, under a federal court order to protect the Negroes, said law and order would be maintained.

Miss Joan Baez, a folk singer active in civil rights work, accompanied the Negroes as far as the police barricade. She told officers she had transfer papers for five young Negro children whose parents were unable to accompany them. She asked to be allowed to take the papers to the school.

ONLY STUDENTS

"Nobody but students and parents can go in," said Lloyd Jones, a state highway patrolman.

Newsmen counted 169 Negro children entering the grammar and high schools. Another nine were turned away. They said school officials told them their transfer applications were not in order.

In another development, L. D. Boone announced his resignation from the six-member City Council. He said he was not able "to devote sufficient time to the job." Grenada's city manager quit last week.

White mobs ran freely on school registration day one week earlier, beating and stoneing Negro children and white newsmen until the Mississippi highway patrol stepped in.

"We are taking all possible steps to prevent the slightest of incidents," said Mayor J. D. Quinn.

"If a violation of the law occurs, there will be immediate arrests and prosecution to the fullest extent of the law."

JUDGE'S ORDER

U.S. Dist. Judge Claude Clayton issued a permanent injunction Friday ordering city and county officials to protect the school children from "savage and senseless" attacks.

Failure to comply would expose the officials to contempt of court.

And Saturday, FBI agents swept through Grenada, arresting 13 white men — one a justice of the peace — on federal charges of conspiring in the attacks on Negro children.

The men were taken before a U.S. commissioner in Oxford, 65 miles north of here, and released in $1,000 bond each. Maximum punishment under the charges would be 10 years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

Mayor Quinn spoke last night after the latest in a series of city council meetings, attended by most of the city's police force.

NEW PLANS

Plans, Quinn said, were to hire four new policemen and buy riot-control equipment, two more cruisers and more radio equipment. Riot-control classes were being organized, he said.

Policemen were told to administer the laws without exception, and promised officials would back them up with prosecution of persons arrested.

An aide of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. said the civil rights leader would arrive this afternoon.

In Jackson, Gov. Paul Johnson said that the appearance of King or any of his people would not and must not influence the clear obligation of all law-abiding citizens to preserve the peace.

Saturday's arrests were without incident.

Civil Rights Cloture Move Again Fails

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate rejected today a final effort to revive the 1966 civil rights bill with its controversial open housing provision.

For the second time, the Senate refused to invoke its debate-limiting cloture rule—which requires a two thirds vote of those participating.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield had said in advance that another rebuff would put the bill on the Senate shelf. Left there, the House-passed bill will die when Congress adjourns.

Before the vote a Southern leader had called the attempt to shut off debate a "farce."

"This motion to gag an unborn, nonfilibuster is nonconscionable," declared Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C.

Ervin argued it was degrading the Senate and its rules "for the sake of politics."

Ervin said the opponents haven't had time to launch a true filibuster against the measure and "indeed there has been almost nothing said by any of the proponents in defense of any of the provisions of the bill."

Ervin said the only defense has come from the bill's floor manager, Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., "who has diligently sat throughout the debate while other proponents have been painfully conspicuous by their absence from the Senate chamber."

A move to invoke cloture last week failed on a vote of 54 to 42. Approval by at least two-thirds of those voting is required for a cloture vote to carry.

Six Americans Killed In Viet Combat Errors

SAIGON (UPI)—Six Americans were killed and 23 wounded in three separate incidents involving air and artillery combat errors, it was disclosed today in official reports and information received from reliable military sources.

The tragic mistakes, all of which occurred in fighting yesterday, marred otherwise well-coordinated air and ground action in which U.S. troops battled their way out of a Communist trap and killed 171 North Vietnamese regulars in bloody fighting just south of the demilitarized zone separating north and south Viet Nam.

Information reported by the U.S. military command in Saigon and obtained from reliable informants showed:

—U.S. Marine F4 Phantom jet fighters struck U.S. Marine trenches in a close support strike near the demilitarized zone. Three Marines were killed and four wounded, spokesmen announced.

— Sources disclosed that 105MM Howitzer fire fell into a U.S. infantry position 50 miles northwest of Saigon, killing two Army men and injuring 16.

—It was learned that another infantryman was killed and three wounded 60 miles northwest of the capital when other 105MM Howitzer shells were misdirected into American ranks.

The bombing of the Marine positions in northernmost Quant Tri province was all the more tragic because it possibly involved troops who had killed 171 Communists in a 36-hour battle in which at one time some 400 Leathernecks were surrounded.

The Phantom jets were directed on target by a forward ground controller. They smashed an area marked by a smoke grenade and the controller told them to come in again, but closer. One jet pilot did and his explosives struck U.S troops.

Spokesmen indicated the losses might have been worse had the Marines not been well dug-in. Just north of Saigon last month, a unit of the Army's 1st Infantry division took heavy losses when U.S. jets mistakenly dropped napalm cannisters on their position.

The incident yesterday involving the marines occurred in Operation Prairie, in which Marines forces are fighting the North Vietnamese Army's 324B Division for control of the key province.

The Marines' just-ended sister operation, Deckhouse Four, killed 468 Communists, spokesmen announced today.

U.S. Says Planes May Have Flown Over Red China

WASHINGTON (AP) — A State Department spokesman said today that U.S. combat planes may have flown over Red Chinese territory accidentally on Sept. 9 and Sept. 17.

The violations of Red Chinese air space — which had been charged by the Peking government —would have occurred "during the breakoff from air engagements over North Viet Nam," the spokesman said.

In response to questions, officials said that this might be the first occasion on which the U.S. had actually conceded publicly and officially that the Red Chinese border with North Viet Nam had been crossed by combat planes.

Last Friday, a Peking statement said that two American planes attacked Chinese territory on Sept. 9 and that one of them was damaged in a battle with Chinese fighters.

Poisonous Fungal Growth Found In Cigarette Tobacco Research

Science Service

WASHINGTON — All cigarette tobaccos have been found to contain a highly poisonous fungal growth that causes emphysema in mice, but research is already under way to eliminate the problem.

The discovery of fungal effects on animals was reported in a preliminary article in the journal Science published here, and has been confirmed in later work. Dr. Joseph Forgacs of the Good Samaritan Hospital, Suffern, N.Y., and gist, Dr. W. T. Carll of Pontiac, S.C., have been examining two predominating fungal isolates in tobaccos for several years.

They examined random samples of 252 tobaccos from various brands of cigarettes and 50 each from cigars and pipe mixtures. The two isolates are a species of Alternaria and an Aspergillus niger, which they subjected to preliminary toxicity tests in mice, using stomach tubes for each of five mice and others.

In the first experiments timothy hay was inoculated with fungus and incubated for four weeks before being tested for smoke toxicity. Noninoculated timothy hay, sterilized and similarly treated, served as a control.

"It appears significant," the researchers said, "that pulmonary emphysema was detected grossly in four of four mice exposed repeatedly to Alternaria hay-smoke aerosol, and in four of six mice exposed to A. niger smoke. Two mice in the Alternaria group developed alveolar cell cancers, but this incidence may have been fortuitous in that such neoplasms can occur spontaneously." Since the report was published, they have used tobacco smoke to produce emphysema.

The Surgeon General's Smoking and Health Report discussed various constituents of cigarette smoke as possible causes of lung disorders, but mycotoxins have not previously been studied in this connection, the researchers stated.

Charles Percy Twin Daughter Murdered

CHICAGO (UPI)—Footprints in the sand and fingerprints on a French door provided police with their strongest clues today in the murder of Valerie Percy, a 21-year-old daughter of Republican senatorial candidate Charles H. Percy.

Valerie, a honey-blonde and vivacious "fun girl" who helped her father campaign, was beaten and stabbed to death in her bed before dawn yesterday while the rest of the family slept nearby.

Police believe the murderer was a man who stole onto the Percy's regal estate on a slight bluff overlooking Lake Michigan in the exlsuive north shore suburb of Kenilworth.

Late last night, Kenilworth police chief Robert Daley indicated the best leads left to authorities were a man's footprints leading across the beach to the Percy mansion, "Windward," and a set of fingerprints on the French door by which the killer gained access to the house.

Percy's Democratic opponent, Paul Douglas, called an indefinite suspension in his campaign. Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon canceled a scheduled political speech in Chicago tomorrow.

Percy, a self-made millionaire once tapped as presidential timber by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, bore his grief with the other members of his family, including Valerie's twin sister, Sharon.

Suffered Skull Fracture

Cook County Coroner Andrew Toman said after an autopsy that Valerie died of a skull fracture inflicted by a blunt instrument. She was also stabbed 10 times, in the heart, chest, face and spine.

"He (the killer) must have had a good idea of the layout of the house," Toman said. "He obviously came into the house to murder someone."

It was Valerie's step-mother, Mrs. Loraine Percy, who discovered the murder and for a moment confronted the killer. Mrs. Percy said she was awakened about 5 a.m. by the sound of moaning from her step-daughter's bedroom.

Mrs. Percy said Valerie was still alive, but could not talk. By the time a neighborhood doctor arrived, Valerie was dead.

School Girl Found Dead In Berkeley

BERKELEY (AP) — A bypasser, glancing into a parked car, discovered the body yesterday of an attractive Oakland high school girl who had been killed by a shot in the chest.

Slouched in the front seat of her mother's car was Cheryl Cathleen Nolan, 17, daughter of Adelle Nolan, an Oakland secretary.

When the girl was first seen, early in the morning, her discoverer thought she was sleeping. When he returned two hours later he bacame alarmed and called police.

Berkeley police inspector Jack Houston said the girl had left home at 8 p.m. Saturday. Her mother said she did not know where he daughter was going or with whom.

Miss Nolan was a senior at Oakland High School and had planned to enter business college in the fall, her mother said.

The girl had borrowed her mother's car, saying she was was going to meet a date at the Jabberwock Club, a Telegraph Avenue coffee shop popular with folk singing fans.

"This was the first time she had left home alone," said her mother, whose husband drowned in the Oakland Estuary 10 years ago.

KKK Rally Has Light Bulb Trouble

NEWHALL (AP) — Lack of power seemed to be the problem of Ku Klux Klansmen trying to reorganize in Southern California.

At a rally Saturday night 100 Klan sympathizers were outnumbered three-to-one by sheriff's deputies, highway patrolmen and anti-Klan pickets.

Fire laws prevented burning of crosses in the tinder-dry Solamint Canyon where the rally was held, so Klansmen substituted a cross of electric light bulbs.

But a portable generator to light the cross refused to operate. The rally was delayed an hour while Klansmen tinkered.

When the cross was lighted William V. Fowler, 28, of La Crescenta, who calls himself the state Klan chairman, gave a speech criticizing Jews, Negroes and those who sympathize with minority causes.

Just before the rally began, the man who rented the land for the rally, Thomas Peter Regas, 36, of Hollywood, was booked on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon.

Sheriff's deputy Marty Derieo said Regas pulled a gun on him, then came after him after Derieo asked him to move his pickup truck off an access road.

Police Dispurse Crowd In Watts

LOS ANGELES (AP)—About 20 Negroes threw rocks at a patrol car in the Watts area early Saturday when officers attempted to arrest a youth on suspicion of drunkenness, police said.

Extra police units were called in and the crowd was dispursed.

In nearby Pacoima, 23 persons were booked on suspicion of disturbing the peace after police broke up a fight involving about 50 youths.

Reagan, Brown Battle Again On Extremism

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

California's candidates for governor stand united today in castigating the Ku Klux Klan—but their running verbal battle over the issue of extremism rages on.

A sparsely attended Klan meeting in Newhall Saturday night was cited by Republican Ronald Reagan as evidence of Democratic Gov. Brown's lack of leadership.

In a San Jose statement, Reagan said Brown "hid behind a legal technicality" in failing to enforce a state ban on the Klan.

VERY STRANGE

Brown in turn found it "very strange that at this late date Mr. Reagan has discovered the dangers of racism and extremism in this country. I have asked him repeatedly to join me in repudiating the Ku Klux Klan, the Communist Party, the John Birch Society and other extremists.

"He has now joined me in denouncing the Klan. I only wish he would take the next step and join his fellow distinguished Republicans in disavowing the secret John Birch Society and other hate groups which foster anti-semitism and racism in our state."

BIG DISGRACE

Reagan called it a disgrace "that we have even a few of these bigots and hate-mongers in our midst. What an even bigger disgrace that our state administration could hide behind a legal technicality and allow this kind of subversive gathering to take place."

The GOP candidate said the Klan was able to evade state law and hold its meeting "because they claim they are not the same Ku Klux Klan that was outlawed here a number of years ago."

"Will he (Brown) show this same kind of leadership if crosses are burned on lawns, if Negroes are whipped and bullied, if the klansmen march in the streets?" Reagan asked.

Calling Reagan's statement "a phony attack," Brown challenged his opponent to press criminal charges against leaders of the Newhall meeting if he "is aware of a violation of the law."

Reagan has maintained it's not a candidate's responsibility to determine the affiliations of those who back him. In supporting him, he has said, "Voters are buying my philosophy, I'm not buying theirs."

Big Meteor Explodes In Midwest

MARION, Ind. (AP) — The giant meteor that exploded over the Midwest apparently vaporized before it struck a farm field near here.

Experts hunted through a soybean field all yesterday without finding any trace of the meteorite particles and concluded they probably never would.

Thousands of persons saw the flash of the meteor Saturday night as it disintegrated in a brilliant rain of fragments on Indiana, Michigan and southern Ontario, Canada.

Dr. Newton G. Sprague, associate professor of physics at Ball State University, searched the soybean field where an eyewitness said a "fire ball as big as a barn" fell Saturday night.

"Fragments of meteorite very likely fell around Marion," Dr. Sprague said, "but what most persons saw was a burning cloud of ionized gasses, not a meteorite."

He added that "the meteor could have broken up into such small particles it would be like the dust on your shirt."

Wallace Eyes Presidential Nomination

KENTUCKY DAM VILLAGE, Ky. (UPI) — Alabama Gov. George Wallace said today he is "seriously thinking" of running for president in 1968.

Wallace would become a "white backlash" candidate who said he would carry to the nation a campaign of state-versus-federal power.

The Alabama chief executive, who has repeatedly tangled with the federal government over dsegregation issues, said in an interview with United Press International:

"I am seriously considering this Presidential campaign and if I make it, I will do so in all 50 states this time."

In 1964, Wallace ran in Presidential preferential campaigns in Maryland, Indiana and Wisconsin, capturing upward of 40 per cent of the vote in each state.

The bantam Alabama governor is easily the center of attention at the 32nd annual Southern Governors Conference here as the spokesman for Southern Conservative elements.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Britain Presses Rhodesia To Talk

LONDON (AP)—Two British Cabinet ministers were on their way to Rhodesia today for another round of talks with leaders of the rebellious colony.

Smith

Commonwealth Secretary Herbert Bowden and Atty. Gen. Sir Elwyn Jones left London just before midnight after a four-hour delay.

The departure of Bowden and Jones was delayed after Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith said he had agreed to the visit on the understanding the talks would be formal exchages between the British and Rhodesian governments.

Officials and Prime Minister Harold Wilson let Bowden and Jones leave after receiving assurances from Salisbury, the Rhodesian capital, that Smith's statement was made to placate extremists in his own Rhodesian Front party.

Wilson's office said Bowden's talks with the Smith regime will be carried out via Gov. Gen. Sir Humphrey Gibbs, who still is the official representative in Salisbury of Queen Elizabeth II.

Pope Issues Another Call To End War

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope Paul VI, in a dramatic appeal for peace called today for an end to the war in Viet Nam before it is "too late."

The Pope made the appeal in an encyclical urging worldwide prayer for peace, especially during the month of October—dedicated by catholics to the rosary.

In the encyclical, Pope Paul called on men "to lay down their arms at least before it becomes too late to do so because of the mounting pressure of events.

"We cry to them in God's name to stop. Men must come together and work out concrete plans and terms in all sincerity. A settlement should be reached now, even at the expense of some inconvenience or loss, for it may have to be made later in the train of bitter slaughter and involved great loss," the Pope said.

Three Arrested After Party Crowd Gathers

Three youths face charges as the result of a Kent Woodlands party Friday night that attracted a crowd of from 250 to 350 who were drinking, yelling, cursing and fighting, sheriff's deputies reported.

There was a large gathering in the area of Vineyard Way, causing a traffic hazard at Underhill Road and Vineyard Way, deputies said.

FIST FIGHTS

There were several fist fights and drinking juveniles in the street, according to Deputy W. R. Keaton. The party was at the home of Mrs. B. Klein at 4 Vineyard Way, and there was a loud band, he reported.

Vineyard Way and Goodhill Road were strewn with beer bottles, Keaton said.

Teen-Ager Says Five Youths Picked Him Up, Beat Him

An 18-year-old San Anselmo youth reported to the sheriff's office at 4:38 a.m. Saturday that he was severely beaten by five youths in San Geronimo Valley late Friday night.

The victim, David LeRoy Glasscock of 303 Butterfield Road, told deputies that he had been hitchhiking back home after seeing a movie in Fairfax when the five youths riding in a car picked him up.

Instead of dropping him off in the Sleepy Hollow area, they drove him to the San Geronimo Valley, possibly the Camp Taylor area, and ordered him out of the car, he said.

After he got out, one of the group tried to knock him down and he fought back, he said. Then all five beat and kicked him and tore up his wallet and left him almost unconscious.

Glasscock told deputies that he then walked home, about seven or eight miles, arriving there at 4 a.m. Deputies said he was taken to Marin General Hospital where he was treated for bruises, cuts and scrapes of the head, face, neck and arms.

Two Removed From Church For Denouncing Cleric

SAN MATEO (AP) — Two men who said they were South Africa diplomats but refused to give their names were escorted by police out of a church reception after they denounced an Episcoplian bishop.

The Rt. Rev. Clarence E. Crowther, Anglican bishop of Kimberly and Kurman, South Africa, had just preached a sermon at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, denouncing separation of races in that country.

At the following reception one man approached him and declared: "The apartheid policies of South Africa are the only way to save the world from mongrelization by mixing the races."

The bishop moved away and the other man shouted: "I denounce the bishop as a traitor to South Africa."

Reagan Attacked On Charters View

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The head of the state Division of Savings and Loan has challenged the validity of a charge by Ronald Reagan that savings and loan charters are granted on a political basis.

Commissioner Gareth W. Sadler also denied that former state Democratic Chairman Eugene Wyman or his law firm had represented applicants seeking charters from the state.

Sadler, in a letter to the Republican gubernatorial nominee, said during the weekend that the division in the last 22 months approved only one application for a charter and there were now no applications pending.

He quoted Reagan in recent campaign speeches as saying "there is a 'gold rush to Sacramento' to get new savings and loan charters" and that incorporators of 83 new associations were "'political hacks and phonies.'"

WE SEW SEATS

Car seats. With split seams.

For example . . . the little VW is a mighty fine car. It's put together by strong mechanics. They have contests to see who can tighten the bolts best. They never come apart.

Except at the seams. We sew them up. With dacron thread. And they never come apart!

(Sam, incidentally, pioneered the use of dacron thread in the automotive field in Marin. Just one of our many firsts.)

We sew seams for Fords, Chevs. and Plymouths, TRs, MGAs, and Alfas. And many more, too.

We also install seat covers, auto glass and convertible tops, carpets, headrests and armrests. And many more.

Stop in today and show us your seam problem. Or seat cover problem. Or glass breakage.

We'll be happy to see you!

Rafferty Rips LBJ, Viet Policy

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Dr. Max Rafferty, superintendent of public instruction, has voiced criticism of the Johnson administration's Viet Nam policy.

He called for a quick end to the war during his keynote address at a weekend directors meeting of the California Young Republicans. He said the only alternative to immediate victory "is a stalemate or defeat."

Rafferty accused the administration of lying about escalation of the war.

He also attacked student activities at the Berkeley campus of the University of California. Referring to the so-called filthy and free speech movements of 1964, he said the public "is paying for the education of many in sex and treason." However, he said the university's problems were caused by 1-27th of the student body.

Yacht Sinks, Crew Rescued

The 33-foot racing yacht Finesse sank after a collision with the 60-foot power cruiser Colleen 100 yards north of Pier 41, San Francisco, at about 3 p.m. yesterday.

The Colleen is owned by John and James McClean of San Francisco. After the accident, crew members clung to the debris of the sailboat until they were taken aboard the cruiser. Carnes, who suffered a severed finger, was met by ambulance at the Coast Guard station in San Francisco.

Vote On Powell Still Planned

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Sam M. Gibbons says nothing Negro leaders can do will keep Rep. Adam Clayton Powell from losing his chairmanship powers of the House Education and Labor Committee.

Asked about plans for a rally in New York City tomorrow in Powell's behalf, Gibbons, a Florida Democrat, said, "I don't think it would have any effect on the outcome of the vote."

About offers by some Negro leaders to picket the homes of committee members known to be against Powell, a New York Democrat from Harlem, Gibbons said in an interview: "Anything like that involving members of Congress is fraught with danger. You don't threaten people who are in the highest lawmaking body in the land and perhaps the most important in the world. Congressmen are not intimidated. Each man votes according to his conscience."

Young Demos' Platform 'Embarrassing

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Party leaders and candidates might be embarrassed with the California Federation of Young Democrats' platform, says federation president Henry Waxman.

The platform calls for:

—Support of the idea of "black power" as used responsibly by non-violent civil rights leaders.

—Releasing defendants without bail unless the district attorney can show why bail should be set.

—Allowing persons suspected of drunken driving to refuse a blood or urine test.

The three-day convention of the federation ended yesterday after the platform was adopted. Waxman said that any embarrassment it causes party leaders should be short-lived.

"After the initial publicity fades, this discomfort usually disappears," he said.

The convention rejected planks calling for an end to the draft and repeal of laws restricting homosexual and heterosexual conduct between consenting adults.

Air Force Destroying Public Confidence

By LYLE WILSON
U.P. International

Today's celebration of the 19th anniversary of the independent U.S. Air Force should be observed as a day of mourning—or perhaps a day of Atonement—for misuse of American airpower.

Much that Gen. Billy Mitchell fought for 35 years ago against Army and Navy stupidity is being lost by the modern generation of Air Force brass. The Air Force is being undercut by fading public confidence.

All of Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara's considerable prestige has been raised against manned aircraft as a modern weapon. President Johnson supports McNamara, who is the acknowledged presiding genius of the Johnson administration.

But more than McNamara's misconfidence is destroying public confidence in the U.S. Air Force. The performance of the U.S. Air Force, plus Navy and Marine Air, in Viet Nam is a shocking disappointment. Feeble is the word for it.

Where can the nation look for protection if U.S. air effectiveness in Viet Nam is a fair measure of Air Force capabilities. If that ineffectiveness is due to causes beyond Air Force control, these causes should be explained before the public loses confidence altogether in the air arm and moves to remodel the fly boys into doughboys.

There is much suspicion, supported by some evidence, that the Air Force pratfall in Viet Nam has been caused by the masterminding of air operations in Southeast Asia by civilian politicians in Washington, D.C. President Johnson is the civilian mastermind, as is proper in a society committed to the idea that the military shall be under civilian control.

But what to do if political considerations or civilian strategy so shackle a weapons system as to deprive it of any chance at all to perform its mission?

German misuse of Hitler's air superiority in the British blitz may be the perfect example of what goes on in Southeast Asia. The blitz was intended to blast the British to the knees in prayer for peace. The blitz did not do that. What the blitz accomplished was to so outrage the British people that they were ready to fight on the beaches, in the streets and in the fields rather than to surrender. So it seems to be in North Viet Nam.

Something is wrong somewhere when the air power that blasted Germany in World War II is unable to overcome a little country with fewer resources than the state of New Mexico.

What is wrong was suggested just less than a year ago by Gen. Curtis LeMay, then recently retired as Air Force chief of staff. Said LeMay:

"We are hitting the wrong targets."

LeMay wanted air strikes that really would hurt the Communists. He implied that the U.S. Air Force was being misused by the civilian master minds. But what the public sees is a big, expensive Air Force that cannot do a cheap little job. The public deserves the facts regardless of politics. It is time for the great names of American air power to be heard from. Over to Tooey Spaatz, Ira Eaker, Monk Hunter and Pete Quesada!

Too bad Hoyt Vandenberg is dead; he would have sounded off long before this.

Sheppard Trial Judge Is Named

CLEVELAND (UPI) —Common Pleas Court Judge Francis J. Talty was named today to preside at the new murder trial of Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard.

Barring a change of venue, Sheppard is scheduled to stand trial here Oct. 18 in the 1954 slaying of his first wife.

Talty, 46, who has been a judge less than two years, said his assignment to preside at the Sheppard trial was an "awesome responsibility."

As trial judge, he will rule on Sheppard's motion that the trial be moved outside Cleveland. Should Talty agree to a change of venue the presiding judge of the county selected for the trial will appoint a jurist to hear the case.

Sheppard was sentenced to life imprisonment in 1954 on a second degree murder charge — the same charge on which he will be retried —and served more than nine years in prison. He was released in 1964 while the U.S. Supreme Court reviewed his appeal.

Last June, the Supreme Court overturned Sheppard's conviction on grounds of prejudicial news coverage and bedlam in the courtroom.

Truck Rolls Over Driver Injured

A 50-year-old San Bruno truck driver, whose truck and semi-trailer rolled down a 10-foot embankment off Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, three miles west of Samuel Taylor State Park at 6 p.m. yesterday, was in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital with a fractured left ankle and multiple bruises and scrapes

Joseph A. Moriarty, driver of a truck belonging to Green Glen Dairy of San Francisco, told the California Highway Patrol he was west-bound, coming out of a curve, when an auto crossed the center line toward him.

He said he swerved onto the shoulder, and the truck rolled over several times.

Trash Pickup Service On Tap

The Corte Madera Town Council will consider alternatives to the city's monthly trash pickup service today at 7:30 p.m. at the town hall.

Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher will report to the council on alternatives to the presently monthly pickup at the recreation center. One would call for an annual house-to-house pickup of trash.

The council will also consider an amendment, proposed by the county, to the city's animal control ordinance which would raise rates for most dog control services.

It will receive a petition by seven residents for a street light on Redwood Avenue between Willow and Palm avenues.

Great Train Robber Arrested In London

AYLESBURY, England (UPI) —Ronald (Buster) Edwards, described as one of the sharpest brains in the London underworld, was arrested in London today in connection with the great train robbery of 1963.

He was brought here later and formally charged at a police station in Aylesbury, close to the scene of the robbery which netted the gang $7.3 million—the biggest cash haul in history.

Police withheld details of the arrest, but indication were the 34-year old Edwards, in effect, gave himself up.

He had been on the run since Aug. 8, 1963, when a commando-like gang stopped a royal mail train on a Glasgow-to-London run and stole worn banknotes worth 2.6 million pounds sterling.

Edwards was to appear before a magistrate tomorrow at nearby Linslade Court where 12 of the other train robbers arrested earlier were tried and sentenced, seven of them to 30-year jail terms.

Ronald Whipple, 41, formerly of San Anselmo, was examined Saturday at Marin Generol Hospital following an attack of severe stomach pains suffered at the Old Mill Tavern, 106 Throckmorton Avenue, Mill Valley. Whipple collapsed on the tavern floor and was rushed to the hospital by ambulance.

Campaign Smears Mean Silly Season Is Here

The silly season seems to be upon us again.

It comes every two years when political campaigning warms up to the point that ordinary reason gives way to unbridled emotion. In other words, some people get so excited they don't talk sense.

Remember a couple of years ago the case of Roger Kent and the accusations concerning racially discriminatory deed restrictions on property in which he once had an interest?

At that time an over-exhuberant Republican opponent of Prop. 15 (to nullify the Rumford fair-housing law) rushed a statement to the press which implied that Kent, leader of the campaign to save the Rumford act by defeating Prop. 15, was a hypocrite. That is, while supporting the Rumford fair-housing law publically, Kent was alleged to have been party to racially discriminatory deed restrictions, in private, at some distant time past.

It was of course a false implication. No active practitioner of racial discrimination would head a drive to save the Rumford Act. Kent clearly and plainly was an active fighter against racial discrimination.

Turn about is fair play, they say.

Now Democratic state chairman Charles Warren is, "returning the favor," so to speak. On the basis of an ancient property deed, he is accusing Republican Ronald Reagan of hypocrisy in racial matters.

Actually, as he has made clear publicly on more than one occasion, Reagan is a staunch advocate of American constitutional rights — including the right of a person to dispose of his property to whomever he wishes. He has expressed his strong disapproval of so-called restrictive covenants (outlawed by court action in California). He has repeatedly expressed his opposition to racial discrimination.

It is as wrong for the Democratic state chairman to attempt to smear Reagan now with the fine print of a subdivision deed where Reagan owned property briefly more than a quarter of a century ago as it was for a Republican to attempt to smear Roger Kent with some fine print clause in an ancient Kent property deed.

Down with that kind of political campaigning!

Governor Brown isn't above succumbing to the silly season, either.

He got so worked up during a recent appearance in the home district of highly respected young Assemblyman Bob Monaghan (respected for his integrity) that he called Monaghan "one of the most vicious" men in Sacramento.

The audience knew better, of course.

On the same campaign junket, the governor "said a few words" in Galt, home of the Sacramento County fair. Among other things, said our governor of seven and one half years, he was glad to be back in San Joaquin County again.

As we say, the silly season seems to be with us.

Butterflies With Bad Sinuses?

Air pollution may be interfering with butterfly reproduction. This is the latest theory to explain the apparent decline in the number of butterflies in the United States.

Gentleman butterflies depend upon the potent perfume of the lady butterflies in order to find their mates. One drop of this scent is so powerful, it used to draw the males from miles around. Now it is lost among the various affluvia in the atmosphere. Butterflies languish in loneliness.

In Marin, however, it seems more likely that insecticides are the main cause of fewer butterflies.

GOP Charges Brown Ousted Welfare Chief As Scapegoat

By EDWIN S. CAPPS

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Governor Edmund G. Brown, who recently lambasted Assemblyman Robert T. Monagan, R-Tracy, in his home territory, as one of the most vicious men he'd ever known, probably is not going to be happy with a "White Paper" just released by Monagan and the Republican members of the Assembly.

The paper, prepared with the help of Assemblyman John G. Veneman, R-Modesto, the GOP's expert on welfare, is entitled, "The Rise and Fall of a Welfare Director." It charges that the mid-August resignation of J. M. Wedemeyer was engineered by the governor because he needed a welfare political scapegoat.

THE RESIGNATION of Wedemeyer, who had been director of the department since Brown first took office in 1959, has been pretty well reported. The beginning of the end came earlier this summer when the influential County Supervisors Assn. of California unveiled its new "CAL-FLEX" program—a plan designed to cut down on red tape, arbitrary orders from the state, and give counties more of a free hand in operating welfare programs.

William R. MacDougall, general counsel of the CSAC, said the plan included most of the good ideas Brown had espoused in the welfare program. But a few weeks later, Wedemeyer released an intemperate letter charging the supervisors were all wrong and wanted to turn back the clock on welfare to the depression days.

Brown called on his health and welfare agency administrator, Paul Ward, to mediate the dispute. But then the governor publicly attacked Wedemeyer for allowing contracts for $78,000 for welfare recipients groups to "spend their time working for more welfare benefits," and Wedemeyer threw in the towel.

THE REPUBLICANS' white paper noted that the law permitting such contracts had been signed into effect by the governor.

In his resignation, which rebuked Brown, Wedemeyer referred to their meeting of Aug. 7. But, the white paper charged, the governor's letter chastising Wedemeyer was written two days earlier, on Aug. 5.

"THIS SEQUENCE of events makes it quite clear that Wedemeyer's resignation was already engineered by the governor when he met with him on Aug. 7 to 'discuss' and supposedly resolve the issue," the paper said. "This is explicit confirmation of the fact that Wedemeyer previously had the governor's support, had informed the governor's office about what he was doing, and was the victim of an insidious plot (in which the governor himself was directly involved) to force his resignation, thus supposedly absolving the governor of responsibility for the mess in California's welfare program."

One thing is clear, however, aside from the GOP charges. In previous election years, the Brown administration has been meticulous in making no "boat rocking" top personnel changes that might give the voters some uncertainty about the administration. Resignations were "postponed" until after the voting. The fact that Wedemeyer quit in the middle of a campaign indicates there was more than a mild disagreement.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Judge Hosting Event Only News

Editor, Independent-Journal:

You remind me of the Chicago Tribune! (Which I don't mean as a compliment!)

I note in Tuesday's Sept. 13 I-J, pg. 30, you editorialize a news article. The news about Judge Gardiner's hosting a fund-raising event was of some interest, but the Independent's thoughtful addition to this news item (comprising the latter half of the article) tells us uninformed laymen that this expensive social-political bash is "contrary to the Canons of Judicial Ethics" — whatever they are.

Again I see in today's paper (Sept. 15), you kindly remind us again, in half the item, of Sam Gardiner's dastardly flaunting of said "canons."

Why don't you confine such comment to your editorial page?

Judge Gardiner Violation Denied

Editor, Independent-Journal:

There appeared in the Sept. 13 edition of the Independent-Journal at page 30, a "news article" in which it recited the fact that my father-in-law, Judge Samuel W. Gardiner, was to have the great honor of having a member of the President's Cabinet, Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall, as a guest in his home at 30 Fairhills Drive, San Rafael.

The article stated correctly that the function was sponsored by the Brown for Governor Committee and was a Democratic fund-raising affair. The editor, however, went on from this point and proceeded to violate all of the ethics of the newspaper profession by editorializing in a news article. The editor inferred that Judge Gardiner may have violated the canons of judicial ethics by participating in a political affair.

The simple fact is that the Judge is not a member of, and has not attended any meetings of, this Committee. The Judge and Mrs. Gardiner were gracious enough to lend me the use of their home in order that my Committee would have a place to entertain Mr. Udall upon his visit to Marin County.

The Judge has stated that if any person of such distinction as Mr. Udall is ever present in Marin County, it will be his extreme pleasure to offer the use of his home for entertainment purposes, whether the event be hosted by a Democratic or a Republican committee.

Sick Real Estate Pushes Brokers Out

Editor, Independent-Journal:

According to your weekend competitor, the "Mill Valley News," some 500 realty brokers have been wiped out by LBJ's tight money policy.

According to my tabulation of the 1966 yellow page listing of Marin County Real Estate firms the total (excluding all branch offices) amounts to approximately 300.

This in itself is a staggering figure when you stop to consider that it falls only four digits below the total for physicians and surgeons listed in the yellow pages, 303.

It would appear to this writer that we must have some very sick real estate in this county. But, this still doesn't account for the 500 total offered by your competitor. Maybe this represents the "quacks," in which case we are in real trouble. Not that their demise calls for any wringing of hands or bleeding hearts but on the other hand if this figure actually does have any validity it represents the licensed "part time" operators whose fast-buck transactions contribute in a large measure to the "market value" appraisal figures which we have all been subjected to for the past five years.

As far as I'm concerned it it to be hoped that decimation in the ranks of realty brokers will continue until such time as the "fast buck" boys find it unprofitable to continue. There always has been, and always will be a sound, secure and legitimately profitable place in every community for those whose concepts of values are fair and honest.

D. E. PHILLIPS
Mill Valley

(Ed. Note: Reader Phillips seems to assume that only unethical real estate men are hurt by the present down-turn in construction activity and home-buying. We thoroughly disagree and insist that many highly ethical realtors have been, and are being, economically hurt by the present trend of events.)

School Board Should Make Some Decision

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Is the Mill Valley School Board going to accept or reject the proposal to change Old Mill, Homestead and Marin Terrace to kindergarten-third schools? They asked for community expression—they got 24 letters opposing the K-3 schools—now they say they must have a Saturday workshop to discuss pros and cons before making these decisions.

Why does our board, which can act so swiftly on some occasions, take months and years to reach other decisions?

One trustee felt we must look at the overall picture and "not worry about details." These are not details—these are our children's futures!

The board is very considerate in granting inter-district transfers when the child of a working mother must attend school close to his baby sitter's home. Don't I, as a mother, deserve equal consideration?

I would like to apply to have my fourth and fifth graders attend Old Mill School so they can be close to their baby sitter—me.

If Edna Maguire students suffer from lack of identification with their school having only two grades, why is it all right for fourth and fifth graders to be sent off to another school for just two grades?

One trustee said he would like to have advice from parents—but not opinions. I think some parents are expressing their opinions by moving out of Mill Valley. For the first time in years, our enrollment has dropped. Well, that's one way to solve overcrowding!

BENNETT CERF

A FAMOUS TRIAL lawyer in Virginia had just won an acquittal for his client in a scandalous and highly publicized case. An indignant society matron (not above elbowing her way into the courtroom every day of the trial) collared him in the corridor and shrilled, "Is there no case so low, so despicable, so outrageous that you wouldn't take it?" "That remains to be seen," answered the lawyer in equally resonant tones. "What have you been up to, madam?"

A SANTA MONICA sports fan is working on a new kind of all-star baseball team—just what kind you'll be able to figure out for yourself when you hear his first six nominations: Tenor from the Mets; Holey from the Red Sox; Scalped from the Indians; Chicken from the Braves; Fallen from the Angels, and Loot from the Pirates. Any nominations for the positions still open?

South Viet Nam's Election Success Really Significant

WASHINGTON—Now that the South Vietnamese election has gone so well, some U. S. commentators, who once argued that it could never happen, seem intent upon persuading us that it doesn't mean much.

I SUGGEST that it means a great deal and that it has already achieved valuable dividends.

It is true that the voting Sunday does not bring instantly into being an elected civilian government. It was never intended to. A new constitution is first needed since the leaders in Saigon had no wish to resurrect the constitution which the Diem regime discredited and ignored.

But far more was accomplished Sunday than just the election of a 117-member assembly to draft a constitution. The very size of the turnout—more than 80 per cent despite Viet Cong killings, bombings, roadblocks and other harassments—showed:

1—Proof that the people of South Vietnam are intent upon using the vote to build themselves a democracy.

2—Evidence of effective support for continuing the war against the Communists and for the Ky government until a popular election can be held next year.

3—Overwhelming rejection of the Viet Cong.

4—A long stride toward government by the consent of the governed.

Hanoi and the Viet Cong fully knew the blow it would be to their side unless the election machinery could be smashed and the vote held down so low that it would be totally discounted. With every instrument of terror and intimidation the Communists tried—and failed. It was the Communists who made the voting doubly meaningful by their own actions.

THE REASONS why Hanoi was so determined to smash the election were candidly set down in a directive given to the Viet Cong cadres—a document which fell into South Vietnamese hands near Saigon. It read:

"A substantial showing at the polls would serve to legalize the puppet government in Saigon and legalize America's aggressive war in South Viet Nam."

Stanley Karnow, of the Washington Post, wrote from Saigon: "The election is, in effect, a plebiscite in which the (South) Vietnamese will be forced to make a hard, overt choice between the Communists and the anti-Communists."

THE SIZE OF the vote was more than satisfying. It was conclusive.

Civilians will dominate the assembly. About 18 of the 117 members will be military. The assembly is youthful, its average age age 40. The average age of the convention that drafted the U. S. Constitution was 44.

Saigon conducted the election competently and in good faith. Independent observers found nothing amiss at the polls. Representatives of opposing candidates were present.

The Ky government, whose critics said it wouldn't hold the election, did, and the South Vietnamese people, whom the cynics said wouldn't be interested in voting, were.

IT WAS A POOR day for the critics and the cynics.

Canada Proposes U.S. Secretary General

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

UNITED NATIONS—For the first time in United Nations history, serious consideration is being given to naming an American as Secretary-General.

Under a "succession plan" proposed by Canada with U.S. backing, Secretary General U Thant would be drafted for an interim period — the 1966-67 General Assembly session now opening.

After this session, the top U. N. post would go to an American acceptable to the Soviet and the Afro-Asian bloc.

THE CHOICE would be between Ambassador Arthur Goldberg and Undersecretary Ralph Bunche, highest ranking American on the U. N. staff. Bunche, a Negro, is in charge of special political affairs.

Canada's Foreign Minister Paul Martin, one of the authors of this striking plan, is slated to discuss it with U Thant on September 22 in New York.

U. S. officials at the U. N. have greatly disturbed the Canadians with the warning that the seating of Red China could lead to congressional demand that U. S. funds for the U. N. be either cut off or drastically slashed.

Significantly, the Russian delegation at the U. N. has maintained complete silence on the Canadian "succession plan."

Ambassador Goldberg, who is credited as ambitious to succeed Secretary Rusk, is privately saying he would accept the Secretary-General post if President Johnson wanted him to.

RECENTLY, RUSSIAN diplomats in London dropped hints to U. S. officials that in their opinion Goldberg's replacement of Rusk as head of the State Department would materially improve relations between Moscow and Washington. The Russians characterized Goldberg as "more flexible" and "ready to compromise" than Rusk.

Undersecretary Bunche is also available for secretary-general.

He has excellent relations with the Afro-Asian nations and the Soviet bloc, and favors Red China's admission to the U. N.

The convening of the U. N. General Assembly will quickly see a head-on clash over South Africa.

The Afro-Asian bloc is set to oppose the seating of South Africa because of its racial policies.

One plan calls for challenging South Africa's credentials for retention of its seat. That is what the U. S. did after Communist Hungary called in Soviet troops to suppress the 1956 uprising.

COMMUNIST COUNTRIES in Europe will be the target of a sales drive by Canada's nuclear industry. The first Canadian sales presentation will be made in Belgrade, Yugoslavia, this month by a trade mission. Canada hopes Yugoslavia will be a bridgehead to other Red countries, such as Hungary, Czechoslovakia and Romania.

The U. S. will shortly launch a drive to sell the new swing-wing version of the highly successful McDonnell Phantom fighter plane to Britain and France in an effort to dissuade them from developing a similar jet.

Sprayed Poison Oak Is Drab But Gorgeous George Isn't

MARIN IS GOING all out to dress itself up in its finest greenery for the reception of Lady Bird Johnson.

Litter crews are out in force, brush is being cleared, and weeds have been sprayed.

But agricultural commissioner Richard Straw is having second thoughts about the job he and his men did in spraying poison oak. It was such an effective job that the dying poison oak stands out in drab brown against the green roadsides. Some people are complaining that the patches of brown among the lush greenery look "awful."

"What can we do?" shrugs the accommodating Mr. Straw. "You want us to use green dye along with the spray?"

A NEW AND STREAMLINED way to mail out bills to county taxpayers is being devised. As far as we can gather, the tax bill and accompanying information will be printed on a sheet of paper, which can then be folded into envelope form and mailed to the taxpayers.

This way, there would be no stuffing of tax bills into envelopes, because the information will be printed on the inside of the "envelope" itself. The idea is to save time and cost of mailing out thousands of tax bills each year.

The rising interest rate, which is causing all this tight money, can have its beneficial effects.

One such benefit could come in the form of bigger revenues to the county through reinvestment of funds at higher interest rates. But at the rate the county's reserve fund is being depleted, even this unexpected windfall may not be enough to make ends meet.

GORGEOUS GEORGE Reuss, who's been in charge of security at the Civic Center for some three and one half years, looks even snapper than usual these days.

Can't blame him. He's just been promoted to sergeant in charge of in-service training for the sheriff's office, and sports three brand new stripes on his uniform.

Reuss has been with the sheriff's office for five years, and taught at the military police school at Fort Gordon, Ga., for four and a half years while in the service.

AFTER A FEW years' absence from the Civic Center beat, we were afraid we'd be lost among all the new faces. But the veterans are still here, keeping the wheels of government turning. Like Viola Terzia, who's been supervising the telephone switchboard girls for years. Hasn't changed a bit since the old courthouse days where she ran the switchboard in San Rafael.

Floyd Middagh, former undersheriff and chief Civic Center deputy now retired, occasionally comes roaming through the Civic Center to greet old friends. He's a picture of relaxation. There's a man who knows how to enjoy the life of ease.

The High Cost Of Education Hits Parents Rather Early

WASHINGTON — The opening of the school year and the tight money situation are working hardships on many parents throughout the country.

My friend Block was in despair when I saw him the other day.

"When Roger was born," Block said, "we immediately took out an insurance policy for his education. Now because of inflation and the high cost of schooling we've used it all up, and Roger still has six months to go."

"College is that expensive?" I said.

"What do you mean college?" Block said. "Roger goes to nursery school."

"Nursery school, huh?"

"Twenty-five hundred dollars a year, not counting the yearbook or the prom," Block said. "I guess our big mistake was sending Roger to pre-nursery school. You start a kid at three in school and then you have no money left for his serious education when he becomes five. If I had to do it all over again I would probably let him stay in his sandbox, but Alice was adamant about him getting a good solid background."

"Couldn't you borrow some money from the bank to let Roger finish out nursery school?"

"Well, we did borrow $1,000 at the beginning the summer."

"What happened to it?"

"We used it to send Roger to day camp."

"At least the money wasn't wasted," I said. "Aren't there any government grants for kids who want to finish out nursery school?"

"I looked into it. Most of the grants available are in graduate work for children who are either in the fifth grade or above. The particular nursery school that Roger goes to could have gotten a large grant from the government if it was willing to do research in germ warfare. But the headmistress said she wouldn't allow her children to do any research at the school that couldn't be published later."

"I guess scholarships are out?" I said.

YOU DON'T understand," Block said. "It isn't just the tuition that kills you in nursery school. It's the school bus, finger paints, clay and chocolate milk that really mounts up the cost. You have to add another $1,500 for that."

"It's like a yacht," I said. "It isn't the initial cost but the upkeep that counts."

"Exactly. I went to Yale for what it's costing me to send Roger through nursery school. But when I tell him this it doesn't seem to faze him at all. Kids take everything for granted these days."

"You haven't suggested to Roger he could wait on tables to earn part of the tuition himself?"

"Alice is against it. She says nursery school should be a happy time for a child and a kid shouldn't have to worry about working just because his father hadn't made adequate plans for his education."

"YOU DO SEEM to be on a spot," I admitted. "But I guess the day Roger graduates from nursery school, you'll realize all the sacrifice and agony was worthwhile."

"I probably would, but Roger has already indicated he wants to go on to first grade."

Driver Injured, Scooter Demolished

Thomas L. Shupp, 30, of 956 Bel Marin Keys north of Hamilton Air Force Base, was in Letterman General Hospital today with facial cuts and possible head injuries sustained when he flipped off his motor-scooter just before midnight Friday on Bel Marin Keys south of Montego Key.

California Highway Patrolmen found Shupp lying on his side in the road, while his demolished vehicle was nearby. He was treated at Hamilton Air Force Base Hospital and transferred to Letterman General.

Knights Planning Annual Bay Cruise

The Mission San Rafael General Assembly of the Knights of Columbus will hold its annual bay cruise Saturday aboard the S. S. Harbor Queen. The boat will leave Windjammer Pier in Tiburon at 8 p.m., sail around the bay and return at 11 p.m. Cocktails and dinner will be served aboard the boat, followed by dancing.

G. Paul Leal of 624 Tamarack Drive, San Rafael, is handling reservations. Proceeds will go to the assembly's charity fund.

Eight Dominican Coeds Get Grants

Eight students have begun graduate studies at Dominican College this fall under two-year, full time graduate grants issued through Title V of the Higher Education Act.

While studying for teaching credentials and master's degrees, the students will each receive $2,000 a year for two years of study. They will also receive $400 for each dependent and $400 for attendance at the 1967 summer session.

Hospital Rates Hike Announced

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Private non-profit hospitals in San Francisco raised their rates from $2 to $4 to meet the cost of wage increases recently won by nurses, according to Earl Horton, president of the San Francisco Hospital Conference.

Horton said more wage increases for nurses and other personnel are due at the end of the year, which would bring another increase.

Although some hospitals raised the price of special rooms as much as $13, most increases ranged from $1 in wards to $3 to $5 in semi-private rooms.

Today is Monday, Sept. 19, the 262nd day of 1966 with 103 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter; the morning stars are Saturn, Jupiter, Mars and Venus; the evening star is Saturn.

Hungarian statesman Louis Kossuth was born on this day in 1802.

On this day in history:

In 1777, American soldiers won the first Battle of Saratoga, N.Y., in the Revolutionary War.

In 1863, Union and Confederate soldiers met in the Battle of Chickamauga, Ga. The rebels won in the following days.

In 1960, Soviet Premier Khrushchev received a cold reception when he arrived in the United States to attend the United Nations General Assembly.

A thought for the day—American President James A. Garfield said: "This nation is too great to look for mere revenge. But for the security of the future I would do everything."

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Using Reverse Magic Will Help To Make Your Game Like New

Nobody looks at you with big admiring eyes if you win tricks with aces and kings, but you're considered a magician if you win tricks with deuces and treys.

My friend, Edwin Kantar, is a magician too, but some of his magical spells get him a snicker instead of a cheer.

West opened the ace of diamonds and shifted to the three of clubs.

REGULAR WAY

Kantar, playing the South hand, first thought of the non-magical play.

He could take the king of clubs, lead a spade to the ace and discard one heart on the ace of clubs and another on the queen on diamonds.

Declarer would still have three hearts after these discards. When South led a heart from dummy, East would take the ace of hearts and lead a trump to take the last trump out of dummy.

South would lose two hearts, one diamond and one trump, going down one.

WEAVES SPELL

To avoid going down Kantar wove a spell.

He won the second trick with dummy's ace of clubs, thus treating his own king of clubs as though it were a deuce.

"This kind of magic gets more laughs than a man slipping on a banana skin," Kantar observes.

Kantar next led a heart from dummy. East took the ace of hearts and returned a trump to dummy's ace, but dummy still had a trump left.

Declarer took the king of hearts and ruffed a heart with dummy's remaining trump.

Now declarer got to his hand by ruffing a club, drew a round of trumps with the king and gave up a trump.

The rest of his hearts and trumps were good, and Kantar made his contract.

Incidentally, he also won the two-session team championship at the recent national bridge tournament with the help of his magic on this hand.

If you have a silk purse that you want turned into a sow's ear, or if you'd like some gold turned into dross, apply Edwin Kantar, the renowned reverse magician.

What do you say?

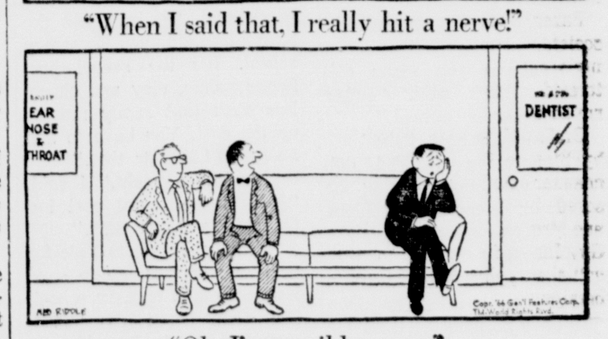

ANSWER: Most experts would pass. Some would bid one spade because of the great length in the major suits. There is no way to know whether the singleton kings have much or little value.

Youths Arrested For Slaying Of Widow

PORTLAND (UPI) —Two California youths were arrested in Oregon yesterday in connection with the slaying of a 75-year-old Oakland woman last week.

The suspects were identified as Dale Richard York and Rudy Kirkendall, both about 18. Their home towns were not given.

York was arrested last night at the Portland bus depot, and Kirkendall was picked up in Salem.

The Oakland Police Department said it knew of the arrests, but said no other information on the suspects could be released until late today.

An intensive manhunt has been underway in the Oakland area since the body of Mrs. Karen Stevens was found in her expensive apartment Thursday night. The victim, a widow, had been bound and gagged.

The coroner's office said the cause of death appeared to be strangulation, but an autopsy was scheduled.

Other residents of the apartment house told police they saw two young men drive away in Mrs. Stevens' car on the night her body was found. Officers said there was no apparent motive for the slaying, other than the theft of the car. Nothing appeared to be missing from the apartment.

Philippine Leader Says Asia Is Impatient For Democracy

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Pointing to his own country as a showcase of individual freedoms, Philippine President Ferdinand E. Marcos said today that democracy can succeed in Viet Nam and the rest of Asia.

"The new wave in Asia is democracy," Marcos said in a speech prepared for delivery to the faculty and students at the University of Michigan, where he was to receive an honorary degree.

"It portends changes that reach to the bedrock of Asian culture; it has made new leaders of Asia impatient of the old order and has opened their eyes to the possibility of lifting up their ancient societies from the mire of degradation, brutish poverty, and class constructions."

Marcos, who is midway through a 15-day state visit to the United States, said his fellow countrymen look upon democracy as "the necessary condition and context for economic development."

"For the Filipino, private enterprise is an extension of the idea of individual freedom; hence, for him, private enterprise and democracy are inseparable," Marcos said.

"The stability of our democracy is a fact. In a region where authoritarian rule, political and military coups, armed insurrection are facts of political life, the Philippine has not deviated from the path of democracy," he said.

"Even while we were recovering from the devastation of the last world war, beset at the same time by Communist subversion, we maintained an unbroken record of constitutional representative government."

Marcos described the historic role of the Philippines in Aasia as "the proving ground of democracy."

Relive The Ferry Boat, Train Era

The cry "all aboard" will open the annual meeting of the Marin County Historical Society at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the San Rafael Improvement Club, Fifth Avenue at H Street.

Featured on the program will be Dr. Thomas I. Snead, who with slides and movies will recreate the days of trains and ferry boats. Dr. Snead began taking pictures of the trains and ferries when he and his family had their summer vacations in a house on the top of Manor Hill in 1918. At that time the funicular railway took passengers up the steep hill.

A model of the ferry, Sausalito, built by Dr. Snead, will be displayed. The Sausalito plied between San Francisco and Sausalito for many years. Dr. Snead will show motion pictures he took during the last years of ferry and railroad travel in Marin.

Parker Wood, president of the society, will preside. The meeting is open to all who are interested in the history of Marin, he said.

Dr. Snead will be introduced by Florence Donnelly, program chairman. Refreshments will be served by Mrs. Elie Dalmon and Mrs. V. J. Bloom. Mrs. Guy Milner, financial secretary, will take applications for memberships.

Marin Democrats Busy Weekend

County Supervisor Thomas T. Storer of Point Reyes Station and Robert E. Mertle of San Rafael played key roles at the First Congressional District Democratic Caucus which drew about 175 democrats to Santa Rosa Saturday.

Mertle, who lost the Democratic nomination for Assembly last June, presided at the caucus. Storer, Democratic candidate for Congress, was one of the main speakers.

Yesterday, about 300 democrats gathered at the Roger Kent estate in Kentfield for a fund-raising picnic for Storer. Mrs. Holly Smith of Mill Valley and Mrs. Vic Donati of Greenbrae were co-chairmen.

Treated For Overdose

Mrs. Sharon Dawn Marshall, 25, of 903 Simmons Lane, Novato, was hospitalized overnight after taking an overdose of aspirin tablets about 9:30 p.m. Saturday, according to Novato police.

Car Hits Parochial School Bus, Ten Children Injured

ENGLEWOOD, Colo. (UPI)— A bright yellow school bus loaded with 27 children collided with a car today, injuring 10 youngsters and the driver of the car.

Nine children were treated at Swedish Hospital in Englewood and released. One 9-year-old girl and the driver of the car remained hospitalized. The girl underwent surgery for a broken jaw.

The 73-year-old bus driver was not injured.

The children aboard the bus ranged from tots to teen-agers. They were being taken to St. Louis Catholic school in Englewood when the accident occurred at 8:20 a.m.

"The kids were thrown around inside the bus because of the impact," Englewood policeman Phil Carpenter said. "They were crying and shaken up pretty good."

Carpenter said the driver of the car, Henry F. Jarvis, 62, of Englewood, "was in excess of the speed limit and failed to stop for a stop sign."

Most of the injured children received cuts and bruises. Jarvis was hospitalized with head cuts. Fred M. Berkler, 73, of Englewood was the bus driver.

Most seriously injured was Ellen Velasquez, 9, who underwent surgery for the broken jaw. Englewood Police Chief Jack Clasby said she apparently struck the back of the driver's seat when the car and bus collided.

A 10th child was injured, but did not require hospitalization. Neither the bus nor the car overturned, police said.

Motorcyclist Still Critical From Crash

A 41-year-old Fairfield motorcyclist, who suffered severe head injuries when he was thrown from his cycle on Shoreline Highway, just south of the Bolinas cutoff at 4:40 p.m. Friday, was reported still in critical condition today at Marin General Hospital.

The California Highway Patrol reported the cyclist, Monroe E. Shepard, was traveling south when he failed to negotiate a curve and veered off the west side of the roadway onto a rocky embankment.

Fifth Rabid Skunk Found

A new anti-social weapon has been added to the armory of skunks in Marin County, it was disclosed today, and children in the area were warned: "Keep away."

A skunk has been found ill with rabies in the Santa Venetia area—the fifth animal of its kind to have the dreaded disease in the county so far this year.

The rabid skunk was found on the property of Mrs. Fern Ross at 4 Portola Drive, Santa Venetia, on Sept. 11 and was shot by a sheriff's deputy.

"To children, skunks can look particularly appealing — but they should not touch," Dorothy Sayers of the county health department.

79 Year Old Jailed

Tecla Sturm, 79, of 101 Woodland Road, Fairfax, was booked into Marin County Jail yesterday afternoon after Dorothy Frish of Sacramento, staying with Ruth Dibene at 47 Oak Road, Fairfax, signed a complaint charging her with making annoying telephone calls, Fairfax police reported.

GI Loan Appraisals Indicate New Building

WASHINGTON (AP) —Appraisal requests for proposed dwellings under the GI home loan program jumped 21.2 per cent during August to a monthly high for 1966, the Veterans Administration reported today.

The August total was 10,292, compared with 8,495 in July and 8,879 in August 1966. The previous monthly high for 1966 was 10,086 in April.

Applications for appraisals for proposed dwellings are considered an indicator of future construction activity.

The seasonally adjusted annual rate for appraisal requests for proposed construction also increased during August by 7.1 per cent, to 106,000 from rate of 99,000 based on July activity.

However, the number of construction starts under the GI program dropped to 3,627 in August from 3,927 in July and fell far below the August 1965 total of 4,838.

As a result, the seasonally adjusted annual rate for VA starts dropped to 35,000 during August, compared with 42,000 in July.

The number of requests for appraisals of existing dwellings decreased to 14,672 during August from 14,773 in July and 17,119 a year earlier.

Applications for home loan guaranty numbered 19,739 in August, up from 18,766 in July and 18,398 in August 1965.

Diplomats Using Radio Messages

WASHINGTON (AP) —State Department officials say shortwave radio transmitters to send diplomatic messages are used both by the United States abroad and some foreign nations in Washington.

Officials said yesterday American diplomatic missions in 45 countries use radio transmitters. They said in about half of these instances, radio is the only alternative to poor means of communication. In others, the transmitters are held for emergencies.

U Thant Willing To Stay Till December, No Longer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—U Thant today expressed willingness to remain as secretary general until the end of this year's General Assembly, in December, if necessary.

Thant told a news conference he would "be ready, perhaps" to serve until the end of the assembly session if it proves impossible to find an agreed successor in the next few weeks.

But Thant indicated determination to stick to his repeated refusal to "offer himself" for re-election to a new five-year term when his current tenure expires Nov. 3.

"I must say that for the moment, the attention of the members of the United Nations, particularly, the members of the Security Council, should be directed primarily to finding a suitable and acceptable successor," Thant said.

He told his pre-assembly news gathering that he did not intend, in his "do-not-choose-to-run" statements of Sept. 1 and 15, to link his expressed pessimistic view of the world situation with his decision not to seek a new term.

But he conceded that if there were appreciable improvement of the world political situation before the end of the year, it could influence him to "review" his decision not to stand again.

James Moyers Rites Held; Aide To LBJ

MCLEAN, Va. (UPI) — President and Mrs. Johnson attended funeral services here today for James Henry Moyers, an aide and older brother of Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers.

The services were held at the McLean Baptist Church. Moyers, 39, died Saturday of a heart attack at his home in McLean, about 12 miles from Washington. The Johnsons motored here from the White House.

The service was conducted by the Rev. Thomas A. Jackson, pastor of the church.

Others attending included Sen. and Mrs Robert F. Kennedy, Director Sargent Shriver of the Office of Economic Opportunity, Director Leonard Marks of the U.S. Information Agency, Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien as well as numerous White House and other government aides.

Burial will be Tuesday at Marshall, Tex., hometown of the Moyers family and residence of the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Moyers.

Moyers had worked for Johnson for about a year, mainly in the background. His duties included supervising special statements and proclamations by the President, and occasionally filling in for his brother as a press spokesman.

BEST-SELLER WANT-ADS

Some cars impress racing drivers.
Some cars impress safety experts.
Mercedes-Benz cars impress both.

The responsiveness that makes it such a pleasure to drive also makes a Mercedes-Benz safe. It steers, maneuvers and stops as if your life depended on it—and with so many blundering drivers on the road, it might. A Mercedes-Benz is also armed with protective features in case trouble occurs. Item: front and rear body sections, designed to yield on heavy impact. Read the details on how scrupulous Mercedes-Benz engineering has bred a superbly safe automobile.

MERCEDES-BENZ builds 15 different models, from a $25,785* limousine to a $6,262* sports car to a $4,189* family sedan.

Superb performance is standard on every Mercedes-Benz. The car above is still winning competition events—after 90,000 miles. Weekdays, the owner drives it to work.

Each is engineered up to performance standards far beyond your normal needs. The objective: to give you maximum control over the car under even the most extreme conditions. The result: Mercedes-Benz cars are admired by professional racing drivers, lauded by safety experts, and respected in 158 countries throughout the world.

Holding the road

Every Mercedes-Benz rides on a fully independent suspension system with heavy-duty shock absorbers, heavy-duty springs, front anti-sway bar and a rear-axle, horizontal compensating spring.

For everyday smooth-road driving, this is sheer engineering extravagance.

But some day you might suddenly get off the pavement, onto a stretch of potholed back road. You might suddenly enter a sharp bend faster than you intended. You might suddenly have to change course while cruising along at over 60 miles an hour on a country lane.

And suddenly, this engineering extravagance is no extravagance at all.

A brutal test: Imagine how your car would fare if it were violently flung from side to side on a narrow two-lane road—at 80 mph. Would it stay on the road? Each new Mercedes-Benz model must pass this test on the factory track before it goes into production.

Stop and stop and stop

Automotive engineers agree that front disc brakes are one of the most useful options you can buy for your car.

Mercedes-Benz engineers think front disc brakes are so useful that you shouldn't have to pay extra for them.

Even the lightest, least expensive Mercedes-Benz uses front disc brakes as standard equipment.

And since extra speed and weight mean extra braking demands, faster and heavier models use 4-wheel disc brakes. The Grand Mercedes limousine uses 4-wheel disc brakes, with two calipers at each front disc.

Technical note: Heat buildup that causes fading in drum brakes doesn't affect discs. Result—you keep stopping, even in repeated panic stops. No pulling, no shuddering. And the threat of brakes "locking up" is vastly reduced.

A tandem master brake cylinder and dual circuit brake lines are also standard equipment. If one system should fail, the other could take over and safely stop the car.

Tires that can take it

Mercedes-Benz does not manufacture tires. But neither do its engineers sluff off the crucial role that tires play in handling, braking and cruising.

Every Mercedes-Benz uses tires designed to perform safely in steady cruising beyond the car's top speed—with a full passenger and trunk load, at normal highway air pressures.

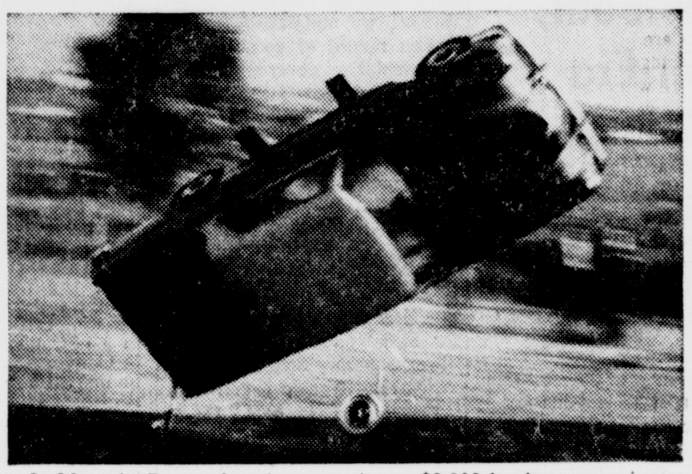

Such tires add to the cost of a Mercedes-Benz—and to your sense of security.

Sharp reflexes

Accurate steering is vital for maximum control. In a sudden crisis, you don't have time for endless twirling of the wheel. The car must go instantly where it's pointed.

Every Mercedes-Benz does. Because every Mercedes-Benz uses a self-adjusting, recirculating-ball steering mechanism. Heavy-duty suspension arms and kingpins help maintain alignment. On rough roads, an ingenious shock damper in the steering linkage absorbs jolts before they can shake the steering wheel.

Spectacular example: The steering gear and every other part of a Mercedes-Benz excel when the going is brutal. A while ago, two European ladies gave vivid proof: they drove a $9,000 Mercedes-Benz luxury sedan in one of the world's nastiest competition events, the Argentine Grand Prix. The route covered 3,000 miles of South America's foulest roads. The pace was furious, and the competition was fierce. The ladies won.

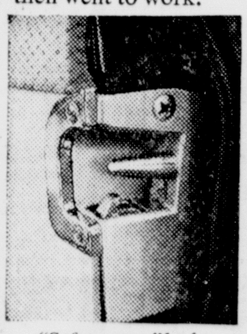

In Mercedes-Benz safety demonstration, a $9,000 hardtop coupe is rolled over at 65 mph. Roof and doors stayed intact.

If trouble meets you

Such superb Mercedes-Benz engineering can help you evade trouble in a sudden crisis. But the grim fact remains—accidents do happen.

Mercedes-Benz engineers faced this fact, then went to work.

"Safety cone" lock

First, they made the car body itself a safety device (patented, 1951). Front and rear sections of this "unit" body are designed to collapse on heavy impact, absorbing shock before it can slam into the passenger compartment.

Patented "safety cone" door locks are designed to keep doors shut in collisions from any angle, or in roll-over crashes. Up front, the steering gear is located behind the front suspension and wheel masses.

Stylists take a back seat

A Mercedes-Benz interior is made safe before it's made pretty. For example, the steering wheel hub looks like a doughnut. It is padded, not pointed. The instrument panel is padded on top, to protect the head, and underneath, to protect the knees. Beneath this padding—thin-gauge steel, to further absorb heavy impacts.

You'll find thoughtful safety features throughout every Mercedes-Benz. Controls are padded, recessed or mounted to snap off if struck. The rearview mirror springs off its mounting if hit by a force of more than 16 lbs. Seats are rigidly anchored to the floor. Their backs are rolled and padded.

Even the Mercedes-Benz hood ornament is a safety feature. It is spring-mounted to avoid impaling pedestrians.

A parting word

However well engineered it may be, no car can entirely defend against the show-off, the drunkard, or the neurotic bent on self-destruction. Safety depends on you.

For sane drivers, Mercedes-Benz cars can help reduce the hazards of driving—without dulling its pleasures. They are among the world's safest cars, and also among the world's most responsive. A unique and desirable combination.

Newest example of Mercedes-Benz performance and safety—the 250S sedan.

AFRICAN TRAVELS

School A Privilege For Uganda Teens

Ninth in a series on just-completed travels through East Africa, South Africa and Rhodesia.

By BARBARA HOSMER

They're from all over Uganda —all tribes, the headmistress told us, indicating the shiny-faced teen-age girls in pink, green, blue and lavender cotton dresses who were walking intently to their next classes at Gayaza High School, nine miles from Kampala.

"I like this policy of the government. It's very good, this mixing of the tribes so the girls get used to it," remarked Jo Cox, the plump, naturally friendly headmistress who for 28 years has guided Gayaza, one of the top girls high schools in East Africa.

Currently 330 African girls study high school and junior college subjects, one shy student in a lavender dress murmuring that she was the first to come from Rwanda, a neighboring province to the south. Four high school years and two sub-university level years are taught, leading to the Cambridge certificate. Last year all who finished the junior college years entered the university, Miss Cox said, pleased.

FORMERLY THERE were dropouts, as education for girls in Africa was not considered important. But now, the headmistress said, it is encouraging because most girls finish their education at Gayaza, and it is sometimes a sacrifice because the tuition is about $84 for a nine-month school year, not an easy sum to spare in a large family. The tuition covers the costs of room, board and books, while teacher salaries are paid by the government.

The campus is pleasantly situated on a grassy hillside, with about ten buildings housing classrooms, library, dining room and dormitories. Begun as a school in 1905 by the Church of England, Gayaza is now run by a special board of the church in cooperation with the Uganda government.

The teachers are British, some quite young, and the only African was the art instructor, whose girls were sculpting strong and free mother and children, men and women, a boy laughing and women working, called "happiness" "friendship," and such, each figure with a different theme emotion. A look into a physics class revealed about 20 black heads bent over notes as the young Peace Corps teacher from Pennsylvania scratched chalk symbols on the blackboard. He and another Peace Corps American were on the staff, living at the school with their young wives.

NOBODY LOOKED UP when we stepped into the biology lab, some 15 close-cropped dark heads bent over a table looking into the sink. Suddenly with a squeal everybody jumped back as the frog they were studying gave a leap toward freedom. The girls giggled and turned shyly to notice us, as the young teacher paused with the lesson.

Home economics had the girls busy sewing small cotton garments for the ever-present baby brother or sister of their family or their small cousins. A chart showed muslin samples that had been washed by boiling, pounding, machine bleaching or hand soaping and what happened to each. For the nutrition lessons, charts showed what the school menus would include and what nutrients each dish supplied using easily available native foods such as bananas (plantain), so that when wives, the girls could provide their families with more balanced diets.

A LOOK INTO THE school's kitchen where Africans were grinding nuts to be used in main dishes, showed us a new electric cooking coil.

"We've just begun cooking with artificial heat," the headmistress explaned, waving toward the outdoor fire visible through the window. "We still do some cooking there . . . some things like matoke just don't taste as good cooked over artificial heat."

Set above the door of the dining room, furnished with polished wood tables and benches and decorated with student paintings and a tasteful garden bouquet, was the school's television set, and Henry Kyeyone, educational television officer for the Uganda Government Ministry of Education, switched it on to present a program on teaching methods made by his department.

A comfortable, new concrete library had been built, partly donated by an Ohio woman who had met the Uganda Minister of Education in the U.S. and wanted to help, and partly by the Mehta family, East African sugar magnates.

"We had to remove the newspapers since the recent political uprising here," Miss Cox said, "because the girls were labeling and crossing out pictures and stories depending on which side they were on." Papers are obtained by request now, since the aborted revolt near Kampala last spring, challenging president Milton Obote.

The dormitory buildings were partially built with A.I.D. money from the United States, and inside many of the girls had Elvis Presley pin-ups on the walls of the extremely neat, though small and spare rooms.

IN NORTH UGANDA at Masindi the new buildings of the Masindi secondary school for boys, similar in grade to Gayaza, were erected a year ago with U.S. Government tax money. Founded 17 years ago, the school is now run by the Uganda Government also using the Cambridge education system of the British. The teaching staff includes 13 Europeans who are British and Canadian, and four Africans.

AUTHOR Lois Benjamin knows what its like to work full time and raise a family at the same time, and in a serialization of her book tells how she kept it from adversely affecting her home and children.

Author Of Series Tells How To Combine Career, Family

A working mother, one of the nine million American women who earn money while raising families, has written a lively report on how they succeed in their double life, titled "So You Want To Be A Working Mother!"

The book, which tells of the problems and joys, the juggling of hours and energies and the effect on husband and children, will be serialized in the Independent-Journal, starting today.

The author is Lois Benjamin, senior editor of The Ladies' Home Journal and mother of two children. Through her research, the reports of psychiatrists and the results of her own nationwide survey, she has found that many mothers wait until their children are in school before they seek a job. Her report is intended to guide those already working and give a clear picture of what's ahead to those about to make the plunge.

Lois Benjamin is a working mother who continued to pursue her career through the early years of her children. It was the proper course for her, she feels, and she tells how she kept it from adversely affecting children and husband.

Her own husband, Philip Benjamin, was a novelist. A few months ago, as her book was coming off the press, the family was sadly jolted. Mr. Benjamin entered the hospital for what was a minor operation and died unexpectedly. Lois will return to work shortly.

Working Mother Part 1

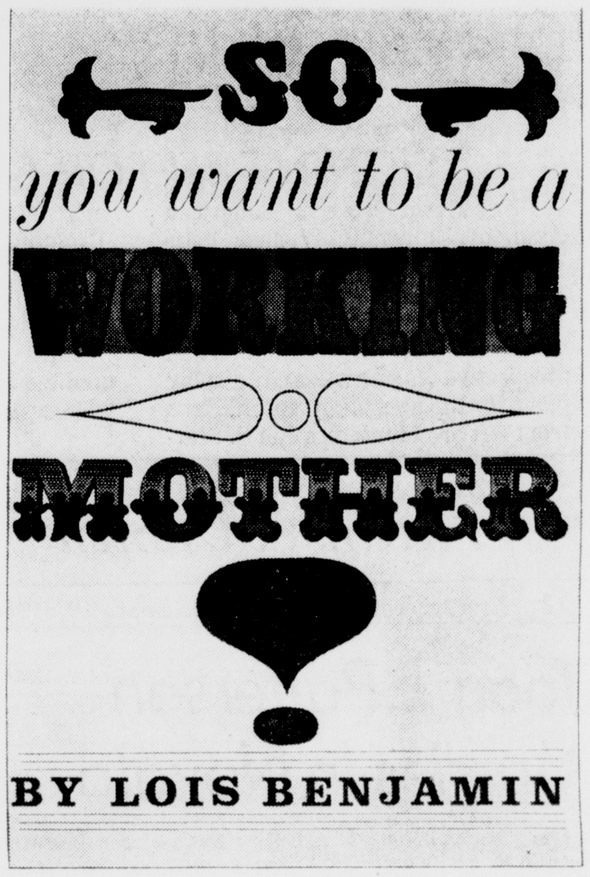

For More Fun And Funds

By LOIS BENJAMIN

First of 12 articles based on the book, "So You Want To Be A Working Mother!," published by McGraw-Hill Book Co., showing how nine million American women succeed at the triple job of wife, mother and home-maker.

A cheerful mother of five, who works fulltime in a bakery shop, confided the only thing that bothers her about her busy life: she doesn't dare fight with her mother-in-law. The rest of us can bawl out Grandmo for bringing candy bars or letting Johnny stay up but the mother who needs Grandma five days a week, 9 to 5, bites her tongue.

Suppose you're the only mother on your block who has to catch the 8:17 to the city tomorrow, despite three sore throats at home. It may help you feel cheerier to reach for a report that says three out of every five American mothers with children aged six to 18 are also due at their desks. Throats are sore at their houses too.

Concentrate on the thought that children of working mothers have been found to be more outgoing, resourceful, and self-reliant, at an earlier age than children of non-working mothers

Which brings up the question of why exactly you will be there, looking frazzled, worrying about what you forgot to tell the sitter before you left, and thinking about the stay-at-home mother next door. She'll just be having her third cup of coffee and deciding whether to take a nap before cleaning the kitchen.

Why are you knocking yourself out?

Every time somebody asks me that question I feel as though I'd better have a fantastically good answer ready. Most working mothers share that feeling; the answer nearly everybody comes up with is, "We need the money."

But mounting evidence about the affluence of two-paycheck families may kill off the need-the-money line soon. Last time the experts checked, there were working wives in at least 20 per cent of U.S. families with incomes of $25,000 or more, and in 35 per cent of families with $15,000 to $25,000. Chances are that they all have shoes and dinners.

Some working mothers insist on full-time help for their children, which may run as high as $85 a week; others can get along with $30 to $40 part-time help; still others use public day-care services or draft their own mothers or mothers-in-law for baby-sitting duty — and resign themselves to doing the housework at night or over the weekend.

WHEN A WORKING mother figures out how much it's costing her to hold her job, she ends up looking at the job's other satisfactions with greater respect — or quitting.

Still, most of us go on thinking that "need" is really the only alibi for a career. Why should it be? What's wrong with making possible a new fall suit, a nice vacation, a set of slip covers, three college degrees and a little more fun for Mommy? Everybody is entitled to make up his own standard and style of living as he goes along.

Unfortunately, all the other explanations for working motherhood are fraught with peril, too. Take "I'm working to broaden my horizons." There are women who say that most jobs are routine and not very broadening, except in the hips.

Then there are the crafty who answer critics with brute honesty. "I'm working because I can't stand the noise in my house."

THE EXPERTS say that sheer escapism is not a good reason for working. I go along with them up to a point. First, there really isn't any escape. Typical studies of housewifely work habits show that the full-time homebody spends 50 to 60 hours a week cooking and cleaning. The working mother — regardless of household help — often winds up putting in 30 to 40 hours on housework, in addition to time on the job.

As for the children, it's a very rare working mother who truly wants an escape from them — from the rewards or demands of caring for them. Working mothers nowadays are not ruthless pin-stripe-suited creatures for whom motherhood is a nuisance or sideline. They are just women who want a great deal out of life besides their families. You'll never hear a mother say she's working to run away from her children—and I don't think we are. What are we doing here? Not making a living, but living.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Avid Neighborly Borrowers Should Be Sent A Bill For 'Lent' Rental

DEAR HELEN:

Don't worry, I've changed the facts enough so I won't put the finger on anyone.

We moved here this summer. My neighbor to the left is very friendly. The first week we got here, he told me his lawn mower had burned out and could he borrow ours during the daytime when we worked—so it wouldn't interfere with our yard duties . . . His wife would use it, or his son.

Well, this went on for two months and he never got his mower repaired. In fact I never saw a mower in his garage. They're avid borrowers, of everything.

One day my wife became ill and came home at 2:30 p.m. She saw this neighbor's son out mowing another neighbor's lawn —with OUR mower.

I asked around and discovered the boy has used our mower to earn all his spending money.

What bugs me is our son at the same time was delivering papers, and spending his time at the odd-job center across town, when he could have been earning more right at home, if this kid hadn't sewed up the territory with our lawmower . . . which isn't in A-Number-1 condition anymore. —PEEVED POP AND WHAT TO DO ABOUT IT?

DEAR POP:

If you don't mind a neighborly feud, you could send them a bill for two months rental of your power mower.

Or you could tell your neighbor frankly you can't afford to maintain a community machine, which would reduce the "feud" to a "strained relations" category.

Or your son can take over the territory, inasmuch as he is the only worker with access to the equipment . . . Which would hot up the "feud" again.

. . . Or you can continue being a patsy for a very friendly neighbor.

I'm partial to a combination of Ideas No. 2 and 3. After all, "friends" like these would be less expensive as enemies. —H.

DEAR HELEN:

I think you were wrong in your answer to the job-seeker who was interviewed "in depth" (with a lie detector yet—H.) while his wife had a "company" visit at home. (In the morning yet, with no warning.—H.)

Though the questions asked were quite personal, big concerns nowadays have to know who they're hiring, and whether they are "normal" or not. If they have ever taken dope, had VD, been attracted to other men or unfaithful to their wives, they wouldn't be very good risks, would they? So why not find out with the best means available? If a man has nothing to hide, he shouldn't resent this sort of a testing. (NOTE FROM H: My correspondent did. He told the company to take its job!)

As for executives' wives visiting in the home, this is done a lot—and in the armed forces too. It's necessary to know whether the wife will qualify in society, when the husband goes up the ladder. Some women stagnate and hold their men back. —MRS. S.

DEAR MRS. S:

Orwell's "1984" — here we come! If man accepts this kind of prying to land an ordinary job, will bugging his home and office with the all-seeing TV eye and the all-hearing transistor tape be far behind? I shudder! —H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help You. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

AFRICAN—

outside as the students, boys 17 to 20, gathered in the shade for their lunch break, dark skin contrasting with their white shirts, khaki shorts and red and white school socks. A Britisher who had been there 11 years, he said that the 375 boys had come from all over Uganda, and added that such mixing was an attempt by the government to break down tribal loyalties.

Another master, a bearded Canadian, explained that only students who showed the most promise got in, tested after eight primary years, as for Gayaza. Except for rugby and soccer, the course is academic and costs 500 shillings ($70) per year — including books, board and room, he said.

"Some boys are very bright, some very slow. All pass. If they have the Cambridge certificate they are assured of jobs."

With a Cambridge certificate the boys can teach primary school in Uganda, but need the two junior college years to enter the university.

Textbooks were new and well supplied, the master said, as we stood on the grass outside the light and airy steel and gray cement block classrooms and dormitories with their brick-red trim. Actually the boys were having exams and about to head home for their one month holiday that comes three times a year.

An attractive open-grillwork library was new also, but hadn't too many books, the teacher explained, and would welcome donations.

HE SAID THAT IN contrast to American and Canadian boys the same age, the Africans were very well behaved and quiet, and were disciplined to study and regulate their life in the dormitories without any supervision.

"They consider it is a privilege to go to school," the master said, using almost the same words as Headmistress Jo Cox did at Gayaza. They also agreed that it is a substantial sacrifice for the boys' and girls' families to pay the tuition every year.

Yet these students, serious and quiet, see opportunity in immediate jobs and rapid advancement with any sort of school certificate, and top positions in their new countries assured with university degrees.

WE PROFUSELY thanked Henry Kyeyone of the Ministry of Education who, on the spur of the moment, arranged to take about four hours of his and his assistant's time to show us Gayaza, where, as at Masindi, a good education is provided to some of the boys and girls who will undoubtedly lead their countries in a few years. While most such schools were established under British rule, the Uganda government has taken care to maintain and strengthen them along existing lines, and others are being built, usually with American or other foreign aid.

Coast To Coast Counterfeit Ring Uncovered

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — The Secret Service says a trackdown of a counterfeiting operation that spanned the continent has ended in the arrest of a man in a parked car near this city's nightclub section and the finding of $435,000 in bogus bills in a home.

Two Baltimore policemen, alerted by the Secret Service, awakened Andrew B. King, 36, Los Angeles, as he slept in his car yesterday and arrested him.

Later Robert Powis, agent in charge of Baltimore's Secret Service office, said questioning of King led to the discovery of $435,000 in bogus $10 bills in a home in suburban Owings Mills.

Taken before a U.S. commissioner, King waived preliminary hearing and was ordered held on $25,000 bond. He faces action by a federal grand jury which venes tomorrow.

He was charged with having had the counterfeit money in his possession in the West.

Powis said the agency had traced the passing operation from Los Angeles, where King had lived, to New York before learning of King's presence in Baltimore.

Following the arrest, agents went to the home and recovered the bogus bills. The occupant of the home said the boxes which contained the money had been left there by an old acquaintance whom he had not seen in some time.

The occupant, who was not identified, had been under the impression that the boxes contained books, the Secret Service said.

Continuation Classes Idea Due Real Work-Out This Year

The workability of shanghaiing high school dropouts back into the classroom by offering special "continuation classes" will get its first year-long test this year in most California school districts which operate high schools.

For some years there has been a law on the books requiring "Continuation classes" for those who drop out before graduation from high school or their 18th birthday. In most districts however, it remained a dead letter until new legislation last year put some teeth into it.

THE NEW LAW requires that those expelled, or suspended for 10 days or more, must be sent to continuation classes, along with the dropouts. Further, it provides that school districts failing to provide such classes may lose up to 10 per cent of their state apportionment.

The law became effective last Oct. 31 — before some school boards were even aware of it. Many districts did not get the continuation classes organized until the second semester. In most, they were rather haphazard at first.

This year, they have presumably been set up in all districts and are ready to work—if they can be made to work.

NEEDLESS TO SAY, there has been no enthusiastic rush by teachers to instruct the new classes. Teaching an aggregation of numbskulls and juvenile delinquents who are in school against their will is scarcely an enticing prospect.

What is to be taught in the classes poses another problem.

Theoretically, the interest of the boys, who make up the majority of dropouts, could more likely be captured by vocational training than by more of the English, mathematics, history, etc., in which they are probably already failures. However, to provide the personnel and facilities for any variety of trade courses for these special classes would appear impossible for any except the largest school districts.

ALSO, THERE is a question whether mere vocational training would accomplish what it set out to do. The complaint of most employers is that the youths (even high school graduates) cannot read and figure well enough to do their simple jobs. So the continuation school teachers seem to be stuck with the job of forcing some rudiments of English and mathematics, at least, into minds unwilling to learn them.

An additional problem is getting the dropouts into the classes. Although one section of the state code says everyone must attend school until he either graduates from high school or attains the age of 18, the truancy law applies only until the age of 16. Most of the dropouts are 16 or over.

THERE IS SOME hope of success, though. Two years ago, the California Teachers Assn. surveyed efforts by several school districts to combat the dropout problem by "continuation classes" and reported some heartening results.

George McMullen, coordinator of special education for Los Angeles Unified School District, reported "tremendous success" with two pilot programs, although the figures sounded somewhat less than tremendous.

In one, 204 dropouts were enrolled in September and 28 remained in class in June; in the other, initial enrollment of 76 dropped to 40.

(Slightly better results were reported a year later in New York, where 45 per cent—or less than half—of dropouts enrolled in continuation classes became "dropout school dropouts.")

SUCCESS IN curbing dropouts through the continuation class approacn was reported also (although without figures) in 1964 from San Diego, Fresno, and Pasadena schools.

About that time, Judge Frank W. Rose of San Mateo County Superior Court gave the State Board of Education the nudge that may have led to the new teeth in the law. He told the board that students kicked out of school generally wind up in court or correctional institutions. He urged that special "disciplinary classrooms" be established for them.

"DROPOUT" IS a word of recent coinage, but the problem itself is doubtless at least as old as compulsory education.

In 1898, Supt. John W. McClymonds of Oakland Public Schools wrote his teachers that "not more than one pupil in 10 graduates from high school, and not more than one pupil in three and a half graduate from the grammar schools—that is the eighth grade."

At least today's dropouts stick around longer than that, although whether they learn much of anything beyond grammar school may be problematical.

Four Hurt In Highway Accidents

Four persons suffered minor injuries in three separate accidents Saturday, and all refused medical aid, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Joan Elaine Mallman, 19, of San Francisco, complained of neck pains after a two-car collison on Highway 101, just south of the Belle Avenue turnoff in San Rafael, at 11:40 a.m. Saturday, highway patrol officers reported.

A car driven by Carl Christopher III, 16, of 380 Vista Grande, Kentfield, collided with the rear of that driven by Miss Mallman, which had slowed for traffic, officers said.

Carlos M. Maseda, 45, of San Francisco, suffered a bruised right leg when he was struck by a car driven by Janis Irene Ott, 33, of San Francisco, on Highway 101, just south of the Waldo Tunnel, officers reported.

Meseda's car had stalled and he was walking on the highway when he was brushed by the Ott car.

Two Oakland women, Wilma Schaefer Lamb, 81, the driver, and her passenger Margot DuFrance, 75, complained of neck and back pains after their car was struck from behind on Highway 101 at Diablo Boulevard, Novato, at 11:45 a.m. Saturday, officers reported.

Mrs. Lamb's car had stopped on Highway 101 for a traffic light and was struck by a car driven by Charles C. Craig, 63, of San Lorenzo, according to officers.

Family Planning Clinics Added

The Marin County Health Department has added two new family planning clinics to its first one in Marin City.

The new clinics are at the San Rafael Health Department, 920 Grand Avenue, from 7 to 9 p.m. each Wednesday and at the Novato Community House, Machin and DeLong avenues from 10 a.m. to noon each Monday. The Marin City clinic is in the Rosa Building off Drake Avenue each Tuesday from 7 to 9 p.m.

The clinics are staffed by private physicians, public health nurses, volunteers from the Planned Parenthood Assn. of Marin and physicians from the University of California Medical Center. The clinics are open to Marin residents over 18, and offer birth control information, medical guidance and supplies.

Idea For Peace Can Win Cash

Marin County youths are being given the opportunity to submit their plans for world peace in an international essay contest with a first prize award of $25,000.

Sponsored locally by the Corte Madera Lions Club and world-wide by Lions International, the contest calls for essays of not more than 5,000 words and is open to those who will be 14 through 21 years old on Jan. 15.

The essays will be judged on five different levels, beginning with the local club level and running through the international level. Entrys must be submitted to the Corte Madera Lions by Dec. 10, according to club president Arthur Hallin. Entrance instructions are available through that club.

Pamphlets Will Inform Voters

Nine million ballot pamphlets are to be sent to California voters Sept. 29, indicating analyses and pro and con arguments of 17 ballot propositions for the Nov. 8 General Election.

Compiled by George H. Murphy, chief counsel for the California Legislature, the pamphlets were shipped to county clerks this week.

The 17 ballot proposals start with 1-a, a measure to revise the State Constitution.

Proposition No. 1 proposes a broader base of investment for public or retirement funds. Because the first proposition is No. 1-a, the last of the 17 propositions is numbered 16. This is an anti-obscenity measure, the only proposition to reach the ballot by initiative effort.

Sorich Ranch Plans Aired

The San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Commission will discuss development of the Sorich Ranch Park tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the city clerk's office at city hall.

The commission will review proposals and cost estimates received from planning firms, set a date for interviewing representatives from the firms, and establish basic criteria for planning the park.

The commission will also hear a report on the proposed fall recreation program and meet with the planning commission to discuss a proposed tree ordinance.

San Rafael's Post Office Is Dedicated

San Rafael's new $730,000 post office was dedicated with a minimum of pomp Saturday afternoon in its unpretentious circumstances among the industrial structures on Bellam Boulevard.

While Postmaster Warren H. Williams fairly glowed with good cheer at the official opening of the spacious, modern facility, the audience of 100 dignitaries, postal employees and other guests fairly sizzled under a broiling sun which enabled everyone present to appreciate the air conditioning in the new building.

Large pictures of President Johnson and Postmaster General Lawrence O'Brien in front of the speaker's rostrum at first glance gave the impression that perhaps a new Democratic headquarters was being dedicated. But the presence of Assemblyman William T. Bagley (R-San Rafael) and greetings conveyed from Rep. Donald H. Clausen (R-First District) were reassurance of the nonpartisan atmosphere of the occasion.

After master of ceremonies John L. Rockwell of Fairfax had introduced about half of the 100 persons present to the other half, Director Raymond R. Holmquist of the Post Office Department's San Francisco region delivered a 15-minute address. He noted that the San Rafael Post Office is handling nearly twice the postal receipts it did 10 years ago.

Both Holmquist and Rockwell repeatedly referred to San Rafael as "San Rafael 94901," perhaps serving notice that the Post Office Department now considers a city's zip code number an integral part of its name. The new post office bears in raised letters the title, "United States Post Office, San Rafael, California 94901."

Rockwell, a past president of the San Rafael Kiwanis Club, informed the audience that Postmaster Williams, also a Kiwanian, is known in the club as "Mr. Zip."

NERVOUS

The Grateful Dead To Make The Scene

By ROBERT M. STREBEIGH

The Grateful Dead have been buried in the country, but are soon to be disinterred.

The ick 'n' roll combo is regretfully leaving its sylvan retreat at Camp Lagunitas the end of this month and returning to "the nervous scene" on the other side of the Golden Gate.

For three months, the five electronic musicians — together with three managers, one equipment man, four wives and six weeks in the historic Burdell mansion on Rancho Olompali, the rest of the time at the former children's summer camp on Arroyo Road off Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Manager Rock Scully explained the Grateful Dead's retreat to bucolic Lagunitas: "That city over there is what we call 'the scene.' It's meeting all kinds of people. It's a lot of extra nervousness. Being in a band is a nervous kind of work anyway. The band works smoother when it can get away some place from all that and relax."

The only drawback is that the band can't practice in the country, according to lead guitarist Jerry Garcia.

Scully pointed to the wooded hills around the nearly four-acre camp and explained that the "sound really bounces around this canyon" and the neighbors don't like it.

"We understand, of course, and the policeman who said we'd better not play was awfully nice," added Garcia.

So, for Garcia, Ron (Pigpen) McKernan, Bob (Cowboy) Weir, Phil Lesh and Bill Sommers and their retinue, it's goodbye to their $600-a-month leafy acreage, tiny brook, sheltering cabins and swimming pool.

They'll be too busy in the city across the bay, however, to have time for nostalgia, according to manager Scully.

The long-haired quintet is booked solidly for weekends through November and will have to spend most of the weekdays practicing and cutting their first records, Scully said.

The recording contract is a measure of how quickly the Grateful Dead have caught on since the group was formed nine months ago. Since then, they've played in Los Angeles, Portland, Ore., and Vancouver, B. C., as well as in San Francisco dance halls. In November, they are booked into Chicago.

Nucleus of the group, all of whom are in their early 20's, were Garcia, McKernan and Weir, who started as Mother McCrea's Jug Band. Bill Sommers was drafted when the three heard him on the drums one night in Palo Alto. Phil Lesh was studying composing at Mills College in Oakland, when the group persuaded him to team up as the electric bass player.

All except rhythm guitarist Cowboy Weir, who is from Wyoming, are Bay Area men.

The lyrics of one of the songs they will record while making the nervous scene may recall their Lagunitas retreat:

"When the cardboard cowboy dreams
In his cornucopia
He opens up the sky and sends my mind
To the corners of the rainbow bridge
Unrolling beneath my trembling toes."

Parked Auto Takes A Swim

Paul King Jr. of Mill Valley thought he had set the brakes of his car when he parked it Saturday night on a Sausalito boat ramp Maybe he had, but it didn't make any difference.

King, of 5 Shelter Bay, was sitting in Zack's By-The-Bay when someone told him his car had gone for a swim. King ran outside to find the car about 50 feet out in the bay.

Two skin divers attached a tow chain to the submarine vehicle. The car was dragged back into land at 1 a.m. Sunday, about two hours after its journey began. No one was seen tampering with the car, police reported.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

THIRD SECTION SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 19, 1966 15

YOUNG COMPETITORS — Teen-agers in the junior handling competition at Sir Francis Drake Kennel Club show strove to show off their dogs to perfection. The class was part of the club's seventh annual show yesterday in Ignacio, with more than 2,000 proud owners and casual spectators looking over more than 1,100 dogs. (Independent-Journal photo)

Warehouse Flood Damage Inventoried

Marin County schools officials and employees of the Montgomery Ward and Co. warehouse in Corte Madera where apprehensively taking inventory today in the aftermath of the small flood Saturday in the building they share between Tamal Vista Avenue and Madera Boulevard.

The amount of damage caused by the bursting of a metal strap around a main pipe of the sprinkler alarm system of the schools office was still unclear.

"It's really impossible to give an accurate estimate at this time," said William G. Vanasen, director of business services for the schools office, of the damage there.

Robert J. Grant, store manager for Montgomery-Ward, also declined to estimate the damage in his store's warehouse until the inventory is completed.

According to warehouse manager Lee Roden, the damaged articles included "toys, furniture, fashions, mattresses — you name it, practically any merchandise in our store was in this place."

New Routes To Coast To Unveil Tomorrow

The State Division of Highways will present alternate locations for the long-sought east-west highway connecting Highway 101 with Point Reyes, at tomorrow morning's session of the Marin County Board of Supervisiors.

The meeting starts at 9 a.m. on the third floor of the Civic Center.

This is the first public presentation by the highway division on the alternate routes for the east-west connection.

Alan S. Hart, district engineer for the division of highways, disclosed that one alternate route would follow the existing county road between Nicasio and San Geronimo, thus passing through a recently established agricultural preserve. Other alternate proposals have not been made public as yet, but routes discussed in the past include these: (1) Greenbrae route through Ross Valley, (2) San Rafael west along Miracle Mile to San Anselmo and Fairfax, (3) from Terra Linda or Lucas Valley over the ridges to San Geronimo Valley.

Other items on the Tuesday morning agenda include:

1. Appointment of a director to the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District board. The term of Thomas D. Hardcastle expires Nov. 20.

2. Proposed county service areas for consolidated fire and police services. The county administrator will recommend that proceedings be started for establishment of county service areas covering the entire unincorporated area, and hearings be set for Oct. 25.

3. The regional Water Quality Control Board seeks an amendment to the county code to delete chemical toilets as acceptable means of sewage disposal for non-transient vessels.

4. The National Park Service is asking the county to agree to restrict by local zoning areas in the Point Reyes Seashore that will be reserved for private development. In the opinion of the Marin County counsel, such restriction of private land would be unconstitutional.

5. The administrator will report that the state fire marshal is requiring immediate improvement of the fire alarm system at Juvenile Hall. Estimated cost is $7,400.

The afternoon session will include hearings on a rezoning petition by Dillon Beach Inc., a zoning code amendment to require fencing of junk yards, and the appeal of Alfred Hanken from a planning commission decision on land division.

The supervisors will recess early in the afternoon to meet Lady Bird Johnson at Point Reyes Seashore at 4 p.m.

Self-Service Suit Swipers Strike Often

Self-service customers — who like expensive clothes off-the-peg and out the door—have stolen $2,190 worth of suits from the Emporium in the Northgate Shopping Center this month, San Rafael police reported today.

The store at Northgate is among several Emporium stores hit around the Bay Area in a series of shoplifting sprees.

Louis Boscola, security officer at Northgate, told police that 12 suits were taken Sept. 3 and four suits last Wednesday.

From police photographs, officers today were able to come up with two possible suspects in what they said is a statewide grab-and-carry gang.

Boscola said the routine appeared always the same. One man engages the shop clerk in talk about a suit while a second man stands around holding a case. Both are reported in their late 50s.

Emporium outlets at Steven's Creek in San Jose, Hillsdale Shopping Center in San Mateo and Santa Rosa have reported a similar rash of the suit shoplifting epidemic, Boscola said.

San Rafael General Plan Hearing Today

Public hearing on the San Rafael General Plan will feature tonight's meeting of the San Rafael City Council at 8 o'clock in the new city hall.

The plan, by Daniel P. Coleman and William Spangler, has gone through two hearings by the planning commission with little comment from the public. An earlier version two years ago drew heavy public protest because of its proposals for control of tidelands within the city. These are now under jurisdiction of the Bay Conservation and Development Commission and have been eliminated from the plan.

Bids are to be opened on demolition of the old city hall and on installation of a sanitary sewer on Elizabeth Way.

Hearings will be held on appeals from planning commission requirements by Eugene Aureguy and Harold McKenzie, planning a commercial center on the Highway 101 Frontage Road across from Terra Linda, and by Coldwell, Banker and Co. on turndown of a billboard permit.

Up for final adoption will be ordinances setting a four and one-half foot setback along Verdi and Lisbon streets, reducing public hearings by the planning commission on zoning matters from two to one, and providing for a planned unit development district zone.

A zoning ordinance revision program proposed by Duncan and Jones will be discussed. Bids will be called for Glen Park Avenue drainage improvement.

Husband Calls Pill Overdose

A wife called San Rafael police last night and told them her husband had called her on the telephone to say he had taken an overdose of pills.

Officers rushed to 108 Professional Center Parkway, where they found Joseph William Nagy, 53, collapsed in Apt. 403. They forced him to walk around the room until arrival of an ambulance.

Nagy was listed in good condition in the intensive care unit of Marin General Hospital today, suffering from what is believed to be an overdose of Nemutol pills.

Citizen's Arrest For Loitering

Klaus D. Roehricht, 24, of 122B Dominga Avenue, Fairfax, was jailed by Fairfax police Friday night after Mrs. Joan A. Brown of 165 Bolinas Road said she found him peeking in her window and made a citizen's arrest charging him with loitering.

Roehrict, who said he was looking for his kitten in her yard, agreed to go to the police station with her to straighten the matter out, police said. When they arrived, she signed the complaint and had him arrested.

Safety Conclave

Representatives of Marin General Hospital will take part in a safety conference at Sonoma State Hospital Sept. 22, sponsored by the Northern California Governmental Agency Section of the Governor's Safety Conference.

Park School Parents Ideas Asked On Portables Rental

A plan to end double sessions at Mill Valley's Park School by renting six portable classrooms will be considered tomorrow by district trustees at 8 p.m. at Park School.

Supt. G. R. McConnell recommended the plan Friday. A poll of trustees during the weekend, he said today, indicated they felt parents should have an opportunity to comment on the plan before it is acted upon.

Double sessions for six classes in first and second grades at the school began last week when the district learned that two old wings in the annex did not meet structural standards for earthquake safety.

McConnell recommended that two of the portable classrooms be located at Edna Maguire School to house the two sixth grade classes now at Park School. If adopted by the board, the plan would end double sessions within eight weeks, McConnell estimated.

Proposition One Endorsement Asked

Two Marin organizations are asking the Marin County Board of Supervisors to support State Proposition 1, which would allow public agencies to invest up to 25 per cent of their reserve funds in stocks and securities.

Marin County Employees Assn. and San Quentin Chapter 21 of the California State Employees Assn. have sent letters to the Marin supervisors asking for endorsement of the proposition, which will be on the November ballot.

Novato Seen Out Of New Fire Area

Novato City Mgr. J. Julien Baget predicted today that Novato and Tiburon fire districts will be left out of a proposed county services area for fire protection when it goes before the county board of supervisors tomorrow.

Baget met today in his office with representatives of the City of Novato and Novato Fire District.

Mayor J. Wayne Womack, who is a member of the city-county services committee, said the committee has not yet made a study of the proposed county-wide district for fire protection in unincorporated areas.

Chief George J. Cavallero of the Novato Fire Department said taxpayers would lose much that has been built up over the years if the Novato district were included in a county-wide set-up.

"Just take one truck down to Lucas Valley or Marinwood where they need fire protection and it would take Novato off its favorable rating with the fire underwriters," he contended.

Peter J. Ferrarese, fire district board chairman, declared, "I'd hate to see the people of the Novato Fire District roped into something where they come out on the short end of the stick."

The county services area is scheduled to be discussed by the board of supervisors at 11 a.m. tomorrow, and by the Novato City Council at a special meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

Garbage Service On City Agenda

Mill Valley City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer will make his final recommendations tonight to the city council on garbage rates and service for city residents.

The council meets at 8 p.m. in the city hall.

Mill Valley Refuse Service Inc. has the city garbage franchise. The city and the garbage company have been at odds for more than a year over revision of the rates and service stipulated in the franchise.

Also on the agenda is a proposal by the Bay Air Pollution Control Board to ban all backyard burning of rubbish.

Voter Count: 88,500

A voter registration total of about 88,500 was reported for Marin County today. Last Thursday was deadline for registering for the November general election.

John F. Musser Jr., assistant county clerks for elections, said this figure involves approximately 12,000 new registrations since the June primary election, and an estimated 5,000 cancellations.

There were 81,147 voters registered for the June election. Musser said 87,002 persons were registered for the last general election in November, 1964.

Official count of registrations will be available in about a week, he said.

Brighter Skies Are On The Way

The weather prospect looked brighter today after a weekend of gray clouds and some rain over Marin County.

Woodacre was among the wettest spots yesterday when .09 inches of an inch of rain fell. San Anselmo had .07 of an inch while San Rafael and Novato reported half an inch.

Light showers dumping from a trace to .02 of an inch fell in the county early today.

The Weather Bureau expects an atmospheric depression to continue through tonight but lift tomorrow with a corresponding rise in temperatures.

Tools Stolen

Tools valued at $100 were taken from the unlocked car of Gerald Thomas Nolan of 35 Valley Road, Mill Valley, while it was parked Saturday in a lot at Third and Cijos streets, San Rafael, police said today.

Wounded Inmate Says He Fell

A San Quentin prisoner was treated for what appeared to be superficial knife wounds at the prison hospital just before noon Saturday.

Robert Davis Joiner, 29, from Alameda County, told prison officials he received the wounds on his chest when he fell on some weights, according to Associate Warden James W. L. Park.

Park said Joiner, serving time for forgery and receiving stolen property, may have been stabbed or he may have fallen against something sharp during a fight.

Still Critical

William T. Partridge, 53, of White Hall, Md., remained in critical condition at Marin General Hospital today with neck, abdominal and head injuries suffered when his car crashed into a Highway 101 divider fence early Saurday near the Corte Madera Overpass.

Redwood High Slates Annual College Night

Annual college night is set for Wednesday, at 7:30 p.m. in the Redwood High School's gym. Open to parents and students who will be attending college, the meeting is designed to give them a chance to ask questions about colleges.

Admission representatives will be present from all nine University of California campuses, Chico State, Sonoma State, San Francisco State, Stanislaus State, California Polytechnic, and San Jose State Colleges.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Best Diseases Are Those That Cure Themselves Without Help

VAN DELLEN

The best diseases are those that always get well regardless of the type of medicine the physician orders. One of the best examples is the skin disturbance, pityriasis rosea (pityriasis, meaning scale, and rosea, meaning pink). It produces an unsightly rash but the victim is assured of one thing: complete recovery.

To the best of our knowledge pityriasis rosea is caused by a virus infectory infection and the virus is thought to enter the system through the tonsils or the membranes of the throat or bronchi. The disorder occurs most frequently in spring and fall.

THE MAJORITY of victims are between 15 and 40 years of age although cases have been reported in infants and in the aged. The clew is the primary, or herald, patch that precedes the generalized eruption. The spot varies in size from that of a 5 cent piece to a half dollar, is round or oval in shape, slightly elevated, and bright red. The edges are irregular and the center is lighter in color, smooth, and slightly scaly.

Days or weeks later the general eruption appears. The individual blemish is much smaller than the mother lesion although of the same shape. It is pinkish-salmon in color and is covered with a fine, thin, crinkled, cigaret paperlike scale. The latter loosens in the center but the edges remain firmly attached. The most characteristic feature of pityriasis rosea is that the long axis of the oval plaques run parallel to the lines of cleavage of the skin.

CALAMINE LOTION eases the intense itching. The best treatment appears to be ultraviolet light from the mercury quartz lamp. Mild dosage is needed because the best results are obtained by the amount that will produce slight redness. All that can be said of radiation, however, is that it shortens the course of the disease, which usually takes six to 10 weeks to subside. A corticosteroid cream is helpful when the skin is irritated.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, selfaddressed envelope accompanies request.

PARAKEET AND ASTHMA

Mrs. J. I. writes: Is it wise for a person with asthma to buy a parakeet?

REPLY

No harm may follow, but the asthmatic is potentially allergic to so many irritants including feathers that it may not be wise to buy a parakeet. Should he do so, and two years later become sensitive to feathers or dander, it would be difficult to part with the bird. By taking a sensible attitude now, such a separation won't be necessary later.

UNBENDING KNEES

Mrs. G. H. writes: I have trouble with my knees going upstairs and down and getting on and off the bus. Don't tell me it's old age because I'm only 83 years young.

REPLY

Of course not. The steps on stairways and buses are too high.

NOSEBLEEDS

C. H. T. writes: Are people with tuberculosis more susceptible than others to nosebleed?

REPLY

Nosebleed accompanies many infections and in this respect is not partial to tuberculosis.

ALLIED DISORDERS

L. C. writes: Is there any difference between sprue and pernicious anemia?

REPLY

Yes. The characteristic feature of sprue is diarrhea, whereas in pernicious anemia the individual is pale and weak because of lack of blood.

Today's Health Hint — Tired people are in bed, the rested are active.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Laws Of State Protect Wages

To protect a worker the law of California gives him special remedies:

2. The worker can assign his claim to the State Division of Labor Enforcement. It will then sue on his behalf for the unpaid wages. Since most claims are small, it is usually not worth while for a worker to sue on his own.

2. The laborer may get a lien on the work he does. Thus a carpenter, painter, plumber, contractor or material supplier can file a "mechanics lien" against the project.

Workmen can enforce their lien on the things they have improved. If necessary, they can get a court to sell the property to collect the wages.

This lien is important when an employer goes broke and owes wages and other debts. Thus in a recent case some loggers worked for weeks for a lumber company. They cut trees but got no wages. The company went broke. The loggers claimed a lien on the logs. Meantime, another lumber company bought the logs and cut them into boards.

The unpaid loggers claimed their lien, this even as against the second lumber company, and their boards. They traced the logs and had them sold. The money went towards their unpaid wages.

3. Wage claims have a priority if an employer goes broke. Wages earned up to $900 within three months of the date of his going broke get priority. These wage earners are paid ahead of government tax or landlord's claims. General creditors share what is left.

A warning: Wage earners may become general creditors if they wait too long or have claims of more than $900. If that is so, they lose their priority and would share assets with the general creditors.

4. Fringe benefits or withholdings made from the worker's paycheck must usually be kept in trust accounts or paid at once towards those benefits. The employer who misuses those funds is committing a crime. Some government agencies will enforce the payment of these benefits to the proper accounts.

Besides, workers often go into our Small Claims Court to collect unpaid wages.

Records Cause Space Problem

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Companies have a tough problem — shal they retain or destroy their mountains of records?

Executives of Rockwell Manufacturing Company here found that the only way to control the storage of paperwork — of more than 350 different forms —was to issue more forms. The new forms systematize the transfer, retention and destruction of company records.

Today, the company keeps only 6 per cent of its records. Fifteen years ago it kept 68 per cent.

Firm Readying Future Orders

NEENAH, WIS. (AP) —A local firm reports that it is getting its material ready for orders expected 33 years from now.

Seedlings planted this year, says A. G. Sharp, senior vice president of Kimberly-Clark-will by 1999 be harvested and used to produce books, newspapers, tissue products, etc. Paper production by then is expected to be about triple its current output, with Americans using 140 million tons of paper a year. Contrast that with the 50 million tons for 1966.

Lion Saves Tamer

SOFIA (AP) — When a lion jumped to attack lion-tamer Alexander Spassov during a circus performance at Plovdiv, the second lion in the show jumped at the attacker while he was in mid-air and drove him to the edge of the cage until he calmed down.

TELEVISION REVIEW

New Espionage Show A Thriller

By DICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—"Mission: Impossible," a new one-hour CBS-TV series that introduced itself during the weekend, is about an exotic, fantastic counterespionage team that the Central Intelligence Agency might well envy. The title derives from the fact that the members of the team are known as the impossible missions force. I sleep better every night knowing they are on the job.

It is entirely possible that the most impossible mission on CBS-TV's counterespionage team will be to survive in the ratings against NBC-TV's Saturday night movie and ABC-TV's Lawrence Welk and "The Hollywood Palace." compared with this, the dirty Communists are a pushover. I am rooting for "The Impossibles," however, because the premiere was a well-honed suspense builder, theatrically done and exciting in its deadly, quietly efficient tone.

The opener was the timeworn television bit about the rotten Latin American dictator, and how to smuggle his two nuclear warheads out of a vault. In shows like this, I can never figure out just exactly what everyone is doing, and to what end, so I just ask that they do it well. Writer-producer Bruce Geller, with an untalkative script, and director Bernard Kowalski saw to this. The camera touches were a great plus, and the production values were excellent.

Best of all, I am pleased to report that we couldn't have been saved by a nicer group of people. The star of "Mission: Impossible" is Steven Hill, a truly first-rate actor of a proven ability, who plays the leader of the team. Others include a wiring and communications expert (Greg Morris), a muscleman and driver (Peter Lupus) and a lovely lady (Barbara Bain) who—well, she does whatever a lady might have to do to help out in a tight spot. She helps out a lot.

Two other members of the team on the opening show were Martin Landau, as a master of disguises and sleight-of-hand artists who will be a recurring character, and Wally Cox, who was very good in a guest role as a professional safecracker.

Access to the vault, which was in a hotel, was gained after the impossibles arrived south of the border in the form of visitors, and the muscleman sneaked Cox into the huge safe by carrying him in a case that supposedly contained scientific samples. This is how Cox got in and out of the vault to set up the smuggling. Unfortunately, he broke his hands in an accident, and Hill had to pull him off the job.

He did this by kidnaping the dictator, taking him into the vault and threatening him with one of two choices if he refused to give the combination of the nuclear devices: Either suffocation from eventual lack of air in the safe, or annihilation if Hill had to try to figure out the devices himself and set off the explosives through an error.

While this was going on, Landau was disguised as the dictator—preparing for a television speech — so everything would look cool. And communications expert Morris was wiring the place to ruin the video transmission (the sound) so that his disguised comrade would be saved the risk of actually making the speech. I don't usually go into such detail on these matters, but I tmought I'd fill in the CIA.

State Graduate Fellowships Open

The State Scholarship and Loan Commission has announced that applications for the new state graduate fellowships for graduate students will be available at all California colleges and universities early next month.

Applications must be filed with the commission by Jan. 16, 1967, and applicants must also take the aptitude test of the graduate record examination given by the Educational Testing Service.

Tam Unification On Docket Again

The Marin County Committee on School District Organization will decide Wednesday whether it wants to start dealing again with the perennial question of unification of the Tamalpais High School District.

The committee will meet at 8 p.m. in the office of the County Superintendent of Schools at 201 Tamal Vista Boulevard, Corte Madera. It will consider whether it wants to declare a study area for development of a new unification for submission to the State Board of Education and to the voters in the district.

An election must be held by state law in April on a state board-approved plan. One already exists, but if enough committee members dislike it, they may seek to develop a substitute. Definition of a study area is the first step in this process.

Ross DeMolay Installation Set

Chris Scott, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Scott of 78 El Camino Drive, Corte Madera, will be installed as master councilor of the Ross Valley Chapter, Order of DeMoley, at 8 p.m. Saturday at the Masonic Temple in Larkspur.

Scott, a senior at Redwood High School, will succeed Norman Mantzsche. Other elected officers to be installed are Brian Duthie, senior councilor; Brad Egnew, junior councilor, and David Von Bima, treasurer.

Giants Need 10-2 Finish To Reach 'Magic Number'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Pittsburgh manager Harry Walker, whose views on baseball, character building and the demise of the Aramaic language are too well known to go into here, has clammed up on the subject of how many games it will take to win the National League pennant.

"I don't think of how many it takes to win it," Walker admitted yesterday after his Pirates had wiggled to within 1½ games of first place by beating San Francisco 3-1.

"Tomorrow, that's as far as I'm thinking of," Walker went on. "How do you know what Los Angeles is going to do? They might lose six straight."

About 100 games ago, it seems that everyone said winning 95 games would take the pennant. If this still be the case, then the Dodgers must win eight while losing six, the Pirates nine and four and the Giants 10 and two.

But this is the National League, where the last two weeks historically defy mathematics and other examples of logic.

For instance, the heavy - hitting, starting-pitcher - poor Pirates managed only five singles and a double yesterday, all off Gaylord Perry (20-8), who took his sixth loss in seven unsuccessful attempts since Aug. 20 for victory No. 21.

And rookie southpaw Woody Fryman, whose last complete game is lost in pre - All Star break antiquity, went all the way with a four-hitter.

After two out in the first inning, the Pirates loaded the bases on walks to Roberto Clemente and Donn Clendenon around an infield single by Willie Stargell.

Bill Mazeroski smashed a hard bouncer that Perry deflected to second baseman Hal Lanier. But first baseman Willie McCovey was caught going two ways at once. His feet got tangled and he couldn't handle the throw for an error as two unearned runs checked across.

"I was trying to get into position for the cut-off throw," McCovey said. "I thought the ball was going through. I thought he would have beaten it out, anyway, and the throw was up the line."

Although that was all Fryman needed, the Pirates scored again in the fifth on a single by Gene Alley and Stargell's double.

Fryman weakened in the ninth, giving up a lead-off homer off the right-field foul pole screen to Tito Fuentes. McCovey followed with a fly that everyone, including the 41,981 fans, thought was leaving Candlestick Park.

But the well-known wind died for an instant and Clemente caught it on the warning path. Frank Johnson backed Clemente to the fence for the second out. Jim Hart singled and Jesus Alou bounced into the game - ending out.

Willie Mays would have batted in Johnson's spot. However, the Giants' center fielder had to leave the game after the seventh inning with a bruised right instep suffered Friday night.

He was a doubtful starter for today's second game of the series with Bob Bolin (10-10) of the Giants scheduled to oppose the Pirate's Bob Veale (14-12).

Novato Whiz Leach Wins Celeb Golf Tourney

ALONG MARIN'S SPORTS TRAIL

By JIM GILMARTIN
I-J Sports Editor

Stars Tourney Successful; Charities May Get $15,000

IN SPITE of a disappoining turnout of an estimated 3,000 galleryites, yesterday's third annual Marin Invitational Tournament of Stars at Peacock Gap will show a neat profit for the Marin Youth Fund.

A heavy response from program sponsors, fine advance ticket sales, $150 entry fees from each of some 60 players, another sellout of the $25 a plate celebrity banquet Saturday night and greatly reduced expenses, all helped the annual event toward a record financial success, according to Chairman Bill McDevitt.

"WE HAVEN'T totalled up receipts yet," he said at last night's awards dinner, "but I feel confident we will net $15,000 for the charities." Last year's tourney netted $8,700 and the first annual event in 1964 produced only a $3,500, so McDevitt was happy.

Yesterday's heavy early morning rain followed by a few hours of threatening skies deprived the tourney of "between $2,000 and $3,000" at the gate, McDevitt estimated. Also, there was considerable competition at Candlestick and Oakland where some 93,000 persons were viewing baseball and football.

CAPT. TED PARNOW of the California Highway Patrol estimated the Tournament of Stars attendance at 3,000, and those who showed up were treated to a lot of fun, although brisk winds spoiled some golf scores and mussed up more than a few bouffant hair-dos.

ANDY WILLIAMS drew the largest gallery and was mobbed on the 18th green by youngsters. The popular TV star flew here from Hollywood in the morning, spent about four hours at Peacock, and flew right back in time for a TV committment last night.

THE OTHER stars arrived in the Bay Area Saturday in time for the celeb banquet at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant. Again, the comedy team of Rowan and Martin headed the banquet's entertainment and had 'em rolling in the aisles.

SECOND LARGEST gallery yesterday was for the Gary Morton-John Brodie-Dick Martin-Dr. Doug Ramsey foursome. The fact that Lucille Ball accompanied her husband, Morton, may have helped. Lucy rode in a golf cart and signed autographs all afternoon.

Actress Ann Jeffries also accompanied her hubby, Robert Sterling.

THE FACT that Novato's Ray Leach and San Rafael's Ron Cerrudo were 1-2 in low gross scoring cheered local golf buffs. Leach, 16, was paired with the boisterous Forrest Tucker of " F Troop" TV fame. Tuck said on the first tee: "This boy's mother sent him here as nice young man; by the time he gets finished today she'll get him back as a dirty young man." Leach survived the ordeal in great shape.

ALAN HALE JR. of "Gilligan's Island" TV series drilled a 10-foot putt on the 18th green to the delight of the young admirers in the crowd and Dick Martin rammed home a 12 footer on the same green to give him a final score of 92, identical to his partner Dan Rowan's card.

SOME OTHER gross scores turned in by the celebs were 81 by the diminutive Andy Williams (with a 14 handcap he won low net trophy), Robert Colbert a 95, Bob Steele an 80, Richard Long 83, Richard Arlen, 84, John Agar 80. Many of the others did not report their cards, picking up on several holes under best-ball team scoring rules.

ALL THE advertised Hollywood celebs showed up and all seemed to enjoy themselves, many expressing hopes of being invited back next year.

THE CHAMP—Tournament of Stars Chairman Bill McDevitt presented low gross championship trophy to 16-year-old Ray Leach of Novato at last night's awards dinner at Peacock Gap.

YOUNGEST CHAMP

Andy Williams Also A Winner

Unruffled and steady, 16-year-old Ray Leach, Novato's precocious golf whiz, fired a methodical par 71 over a star-studded 18 holes yesterday to become the youngest golfer ever to win the third annual Marin Invitational Tournament of Stars golf event at Peacock Gap.

Playing on a crisp and windy afternoon, Leach, by far the youngest golfer there, outshot a host of screen and television celebrities and amateur golfers.

"This is great," Leach said after receiving his award. "I really wanted to win this one."

Leach, with a 37 on the first nine holes and a smooth 34 on the back nine, threw in three birdies to offset three bogeys in his par showing.

The youngster beat out another local links phenom, San Rafael's Ron Cerrudo by two strokes. Cerrudo, 21, who recently missed a shot at the National Amateur tournament playoff by a hairy putt, came in with a 73, followed by Tom Culligan and Kai Thomsen 74.

San Francisco's wealthy quarterback John Brodie along with Chet Patterson and "Peanuts" comic strip originator Charles Schulz were bunched at 75 in the low gross race.

WILLIAMS WINS

Singer Andy Williams, taking time out from a busy television schedule paced the celebrities in the low net divisions, winning on the toss of a coin with a 67. Buddy Rogers lost the flip and finished second also with a 67, followed by popular television announcer Dennis James with a 68.

The low amateur net title went to Dr. Bob Knudson with a 66, followed by Duane Whitmayer and Jack Blaine with 67s.

Gary Norton, Lucille's Ball's husband, was tops in the celebrity low gross category with a 78, followed by former half a Topper ghost Robert Sterling and TV-radio personality Jim Lange, with 79s.

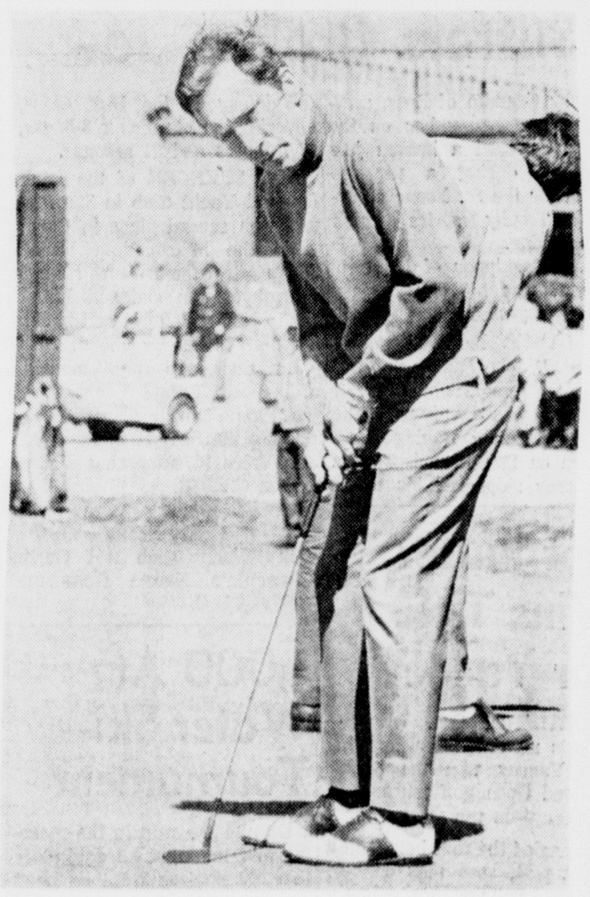

MAGOO AND MATT

The foursome of ("Mr. Magoo") Jim Backus, Alan Murray, 49er linebacker Matt Hazeltine and Buster Collier took the low team ball title with a 54.

Leach apparently was not bothered by the chilly wind that whipped across Peacock near the end of the day nor by boisterous Forrest Tucker, the star of television's "F Troop" who was playing in the Novato lad's foursome.

"The wind didn't bother me

WINDY LIKE CANDLESTICK

50,746 See Raiders 'Blow' New Home Opener, 32-10

By JACK STEVENSON

OAKLAND (AP) — Inauguration ceremonies proved highly successful ior Oakland's new Stadium everywhere except on the scoreboard, and Kansas City coach Hank Stram's postgame words might cause some lifted eyebrows.

A throng of 50,746 turned out yesterday for the first game in the stadium segment of the $26.5 million Oakland-Alameda County Coliseum Complex, close to the football capacity of 53,000.

Oakland's Raiders battled the favored Chiefs to a 10-10 halftime standoff before falling 32-10 to strategy directed against a rookie kicker.

After the inaugural at Oakland, Stram commented, "The wind reminded me a little bit of Candlestick Park when we were there a few years ago."

For a short time, the Raiders tried playing in San Francisco's Candlestick, home of the baseball Giants and renowned as an arena for capricious breezes. Then they moved to their own side of the bay and cozy Frank Youell Field while waiting for the new stadium.

With a floor 23 feet below sea level, the Oakland Stadium doesn't have all the wind problems of Candlestick, but it has them nevertheless.

Stram's club won the toss and chose field position to take advantage of the wind.

His major strategy wasn't based on weather conditions but on Oakland's using a new kicker, rookie Mike Eischeid, who was activated only last week.

In the third period, one of Eischeid's boots went out on the Kansas City one, putting the Chiefs in the hole. But the netx one was blocked and that meant victory No. 2 for the Chiefs who haven't been beaten in this young American Football League campaign.

"The blocked punt definitely blew the game wide open for us and created very much of a letdown for the Raiders," Stram declared. "We knew they had a new kicker and we felt we would pressure him. We had nine men rushing."

With the scrimmage line at the Kansas City 49, defensive end Chuck Hurston broke through and blocked the kick to the Raider 15 where Aaron Brown grabbed it and continued to the six. Two plays later, Len Dawson threw his second of three touchdown passes, this one to Fred Arbanas.

Then, four plays after Fred Williamson blocked one of Eischeid's field goal attempts, 1966 Heisman Trophy winner Mike Garrett broke loose for 42 yards and another touchdown. A Dawson to Arbanas pass, this one for 12 yards, wound up th escoring.

Oakland had scored in the first half on a 22-yard Cotton Davidson to Clem Daniels aeriel and on a 31-yard Eischeid field goal. Kansas City's tallies came on Tommy Broker's 27 - yard field goal and a 20-yard Dawson for Curt McClinton pass.

Cowboys Crush Giants; Packers, Colts Rally To Win

By BO BGREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Football buffs in the Southwest used to call it Southern Meredith University. Next thing you know they'll be saying that Big D stands for Don.

Don Meredith, probably the most celebrated graduate of SMU since Doak Walker, threatened to take Dallas' nickname for his own yesterday when he threw five touchdown passes en route to the Dallas Cowboys' 52-7 humiliation of the New York Giants.

The overwhelming triumph in Dallas' National Football League opener—the Cowboys were idle last week when the rest of the teams opened—stamped the team as the one to beat in the Eastern Conference.

The Cowboys' victory looked even bigger when Green Bay knocked off Cleveland, the other big favorite in the East, 21-20. Pittsburgh surprised Detroit 17-3, Philadelphia handled Atlanta 23-10, St. Louis took Washington 23-7 and Baltimore bombed Minnesota 38-23 in the other Sunday games.

The Los Angeles Rams upset Chicago's Bears 31-17 Friday.

Meredith, 28 and in his seventh season as a pro, appeared to be, at last, reaching his potential as a professional quarterback.

14 FOR 24

He completed 14 of 24 passes for 358 yards and five touchdowns, set up still another touchdown with a 12-yard run and played less than three full quarters in the Cowboys' rout of New York.

"Meredith played as near a perfect game at quarterback as I ever saw," said Coach Tom Landry. "He was in command all the time, moved the team with great confidence, made only one poor pass and all-in-all played the best game of his career."

Meredith praised his offensive line, which held off the Giants all afternoon.

"As a matter of fact, it got kind of lonesome back there," he said.

He whiled away the time playing catch with Bob Hayes and Dan Reeves. Hayes caught six passes for 195 yards, including touchdowns of 74 and 39 yards. Reeves took six for 120 yards, including touchdowns of 2, 1, and 19.

TITTLE'S RECORD

Baltimore veteran Johnny Unitas had a passable afternoon, too. He hit on four touchdown passes after the Colts had spotted Minnesota a 16-0 lead, leading Baltimore from behind and breaking Y.A. Tittle's old career touchdown pass record. He connected on throws of 83, 40, 26 and 4 yards for a career total of 214, two more than Tittle's old mark.

Baltimore, however, remained a full game behind Western Conference co-leaders Los Angeles and Green Bay when the Packers' Jim Taylor crashed over for the deciding touchdown against Cleveland with three minutes left.

Taylor scored on a nine-yard swing pass from Bart Starr, sidestepping two defenders on his way to the goal line, culminating an 85-yard drive and putting the Packers ahead for the first time.

The loss dropped Cleveland well back in the East, now dominated by St. Louis. The Cards came from behind the Redskins with 17 points in the last quarter, two touchdowns being set up on fumble recoveries and Jim Bakken kicking his third field goal of the game.

EAGLE VICTORY

The Eagles clinched it against Atlanta when Norman Snead directed a 92-yard fourth quarter drive, hitting on key third down situations, and Sam Baker kicked his third field goal of the game. That turned a 13-10 squeaker into a breeze.

A defensive holding panelty gave Pittsburgh another chance deep in its own territory and Ron Smith hit Roy Jefferson with an 84-yard scoring pass that broke open the stern defensive struggle with Detroit. The Steelers were protecting a 10-3 edge when the Lions were caught holding on a third down and Jefferson got another chance for the touchdown that clinched it.

I LOVE LUCY—Lucille Ball, bundled up against the chill winds, was surrounded by young autograph seekers at yesterday's Marin Invitational Tournament of Stars at Peacock Gap. She accompanied her husband, comedian Gary Morton, to the tourney and during the 18 holes followed him in a golf cart. (Independent-Journal photos)

QUICK PATCH JOB—Mrs. Alex E. Jean, a hostess at the tourney, does a fast repair job for Bob Wilke after he split the seam of his pants with a mighty swing. Wilke was winner of last year's celebrity division.

Phils And Rain Dampen Dodgers

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

When the rain finally fell on Los Angeles, it was too little and too late for the Dodgers.

Philadelphia's Larry Jackson was putting the wraps on a 4-0 victory over the National League leaders yesterday when a downpour halted play for seven minutes at the start of the ninth inning.

The Dodgers have learned to live without runs — they had been shut out 14 times this season before Jackson blanked them. And Pittsburgh's 3-1 victory at San Francisco, which trimmed their lead to 1½ games, caused no panic in the Los Angeles clubhouse.

But rain was something else for the Dodgers.

They have never had a home game rained out since migrating west from Brooklyn nine years ago. Yesterday's rain delay was the first they'd ever had to sit out at Dodger Stadium.

When the rain let up, Jackson mopped up his 15th victory and fifth shutout of the year. The rubber-armed, 35-year-old veteran scattered seven hits and allowed only one Dodger runner past second base.

Houston swept a doubleheader from New York 9-2 and 6-5; Atlanta ripped Cincinnati 9-4 and Chicago edged St. Louis in other N.L. action.

OSTEEN CHASED

The Phillies scored all their runs in the third inning, chasing L.A. starter Claude Osteen, who had won three in a row. Cookie Rojas drove in two runs with a single, Dick Groat punched a run-scoring single and reliever Bill Singer balked the last run across.

Jackson walked two and struck out three in boosting his record to 15-14 and shutting out Los Angeles for the second time this year.

The Braves rolled to their 16th victory in the last 18 games after Woody Woodward's two-run single in the fifth snapped a 3-3 deadlock. Joe Torre capped the Atlanta scoring in the eighth with his 36th homer.

Byron Browne's bloop double knocked in the tie-breaking run in the seventh, lifting the Cubs past St. Louis to snap the Cardinals' winning string at seven.

Leach Triumphs At Tourney Of Stars too much," Leach said. "I thought he (Tucker) was just great. No, I never thought I had it all wrapped up. I guess I do now."

Some of the other amateurs given a good chance to win it all failed to get untracked.

Father Leonard Scannel, the golfing chaplain of the fairways, skied to a 78 when he four-putted the 18th hole and San Rafael High School golf star Don Hawken trailed in the pack with a 79. Brodie with a impressive 34 on the first nine, collapsed to 41 on the back nine to drop back.

Bechtel Corp. chauffeur Tom Johnston won a 1967 Chevrolet Chevelle in the tournament drawing. He was announced the winner just as he left to drive one of the celebrities, John Truax, to a hospital. Truax suffered a pancreas ailment.

An enthusiastic but much smaller than expected gallery watched the tournament, autograph pad in hand.

Hot Putter Wins Title For Yancey

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — There's no question where big Bert Yancey won the $50,000 Portland Open golf tournament yesterday—on the greens.

He eagled the first hole with a 60-foot putt, then took only 24 additional putts while shooting a 67 and a 72-hole total of 271, three strokes ahead of Billy Casper.

Yancey used 102 putts for the 72 holes, a record for this year's PGA tournament circuit — and an astonishing 10 strokes fewer than Gay Brewer's previous 1966 record of 112.

Yancey, a 6-foot-1, 190-pound belter from Philadelphia, was awarded $6,600 for first place. Casper, second at 274 with rounds of 67-71-67-69, won $3,900.

Pete Brown, who either led or was tied for the lead during the first three days, shot a 72 yesterday for third at 276, worth $3,100 —by far his best payday on the circuit.

Bruce Crampton and Wright Garrett tied for fourth with 277s, worth $2,450.

Jack Nicklaus, who had won the tournament three of the last four years, shot a 72 yesterday for a 279 total and a tie for sixth with five others. It was worth $1,616.66.

The victory put Yancey with Doug Saunders as the only three-time winners on the tour this year. Yancey won the Azalea and Memphis tournaments earlier this year. His winnings total $35,475.86.

The touring pros swing this week to Everett, Wash., for the $45,000 Greater Seattle open tournament.

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — The Soviet Union's national soccer team defeated Yugoslavia 2-1 yesterday before 20,000.

1,000 At Water Ski Tournament

Despite the rain in the morning and the wind all day, close to 1,000 persons were on hand yesterday for the second and final day of the Bel Marin Open water ski tournament at Bel Marin Keys.

Three Marin County youngsters came out of the meet with overall honors. Sharon Boivie of Bel Marin Keys won first place in all three events—slalom, tricks and jump in the girls division; Sharon's brother, Bob, won jump, tricks and was second in slalom in junior boys, and Mike Suyderhoud of San Anselmo won jump (111 feet) and tricks and was fourth in slalom in the boys division.

Other Marin County performers who placed:

Jean Penny of Novato, girls second in jump and third in tricks; Frank Demby Jr. of Terra Linda, boys, third in slalom, second in jump and tricks; Billy Maillet of Bel Marin Keys, boys, second in tricks; Bee Wineman of Novato, senior women, first in tricks and slalom, and daughter Marcie Wineman, junior girls, second in tricks.

Ed Cain, senior men, third in jump: Bob Lindsay, Bill Denny and Rich Meagor, novice division place winners.

Drake, Terra Linda J.V. Gridders Win

Greg Corbett intercepted a pass and ran 20 yards for a touchdown and ran another in from 18 yards out to lead the Drake junior vorsity footballers to a 12-0 win over Petaluma jayvees last Friday at Drake.

Terra Linda's junior varsity defeated Clayton Valley 20-6 on the San Rafael field in another Friday game.

Litchfield's Catcher Is Batting Star

Litchfield's new catcher Lou Millholland again paved the way as the San Rafael semi-pro baseballers thumped Flying Goose 14-1 yesterday in San Francisco.

Millholland had a perfect day at the plate with three singles, a double and two walks, upping his batting average to an unbelievable .923. He has hit safely 12 times in his first 13 at bats, and has now reached base his last 11 times at the plate.

Other big hitters for Litchfield's were Rich Jeffries, single, double and triple and four runs batted in; Jerry Bosch, triple and single and four RBI; Roger Ide, single and double and three RBI; Ed Mennosse, three singles; and newcomer Bill Brody from the Mill Valley Merchants, single and double and three RBI.

Harvey Kaufman pitched the first three frames for Litchfield's, Ed Menosse worked the middle three and Elroy Laughlin the final three. The San Rafael nine has scored 25 runs and has collected 37 hits in the last two games, while the pitching staff has held the opposition to only two runs and nine hits. The team's season record is 34 wines and 7 losses.

Drake Thumps Petaluma, 26-13

By GARY TISCHLER

Don't look now, but Drake High School may have enough punch this year to make Pirate football fans stop mourning the graduation of Dean Lazzarini.

The answer ti the missing do-everything Lazz may be a little 145-pound quick-get-away speedster named John Brown, a string-bean explosive quarterback named Dan Stone and a jarring defense led by preseason all-state pick middle guard Bill Hickerson and mammoth tackle Jerry Sprout.

That combination walked all over Petaluma High School's Trojans for three quarters at College of Marin Stadium Saturday before wilting under an 80-degree plus heat and a revived Petaluma passing circus to win an impressive 26-13 victory over a team that had beaten Drake last year, 13-12.

Brown, who looks weighted down by his pads, repeatedly tore the Petaluma line to shreds on quick hitting plays, amassing 136 yards in 22 carries and picking up a touchdown on a twisting, bobbing 20-yard scamper.

Stone hit on only four passes but they were the kind that break up ball games. Two of them, including a 50-yard screen pass to end Don Alvarado, went for touchdowns and all four totaled a whopping 125 yards.

The Pirate defense wrapped up Petaluma in a smothering shroud in the first half until substitute quarterback Mike Martin got Petaluma untracked in the second half, throwing a slight scare into Drake.

Martin, after starter Rich Garner had hit on just two of eight passes, whipped up the Petaluma attack by completing 12 of 16 passes, two of them for touchdowns and engineered another Petaluma drive in the fourth quarter that died on the Drake eight-yard line.

Drake, faced with a fourth and 10, used another screen pass that went for 37 yards to the Petaluma 11-yard line to set up its first score.

Halfback Mark Rasmussen blasted in from the 11 to make it 6-0 in the first quarter.

Six plays later Drake was on the board again with Stone hitting flanker back Karl Stein across the middle for a 24-yard touchdown pass.

After that, both teams acted like the football carried a deadly plague. Four successive fumbles, two for each team, and an 80-yard pass intereception by Petaluma that was called back by a penalty high lighted a series of plays deep in Petaluma territory in the second quarter.

The Pirates finally took advantage of an interception to score again on Brown's dancing TD jaunt with just 1:41 left in the half.

The Stone-Alvarado screen pass came on the first play of Drake's second series in the second half. Alvarado threaded his way down the right sideline, stiff-armed a pair of Petaluma defenders on the 20-yard line and went in home free.

Drake stalled Petaluma's late uprising with a time-consuming drive during which Brown and Rasmussen churned up yardage for a full four minutes before stalling on the 20-yard line.

AFL ROUNDUP

Million Dollar Job By Namath

By VITO STELLINO
UPI Sports Writer

Joe Namath didn't look like he was worth $400,000 yesterday.

He looked like he was worth a million dollars.

The celebrated New York Jets' quarterback, who received a $400,000 bonus to sign from owner Sonny Werblin, had his finest day as a pro yesterday when he tossed five touchdown passes to lead the Jets to a stunning 52-13 triumph over the Houston Oilers.

The astonishing rout in what was supposed to be a close game before a sellout crowd of 54,681 fans at Shea Stadium stamped the Jets as the team to beat for the American Football League's Eastern Division crown.

That's an amazing reversal for a club that just four years ago was a disorganized hand known as the New York Titans and was the laughing stock of pro football.

But nobody laughs at the Jets these days.

Houston had allowed just seven points in its first two games but Namath wasn't happy about his record.

"I'm not too pleased about my accuracy," Namath said, noting he connected on just 12 of his 31 tosses. "I'm not satisfied with those statistics but we won and that's important."

He added, "my pass protection was fantastic, they gave me all the time in the world to get the ball away."

Namath said his gimpy knee felt fine, adding, "I've got to say that when the doctor's around so he won't drain it again."

Namath's five TD passes tied a club record—set in 1962 by Johnny Green when the club was still the Titans—and helped the club run up the most points in its history.

The Jets were nursing a 7-6 lead late in the second period when Namath hit Matt Snell with a screen pass and he raced 25 yards for the TD. The Jets scored 78 seconds later after an interception by Al Atkinson on Namath's 13-zard pass to Pete Lammons to take a 21-6 halftime lead. The Jets were never headed the rest of the way.

Cadets Win Opener In Santa Rosa

San Rafael Military Academy gridders went to the air with devastating results Saturday as the Cadets opened the season with a 19-6 win at Santa Rosa's Piner High behind quarterback Tommy Davis.

Davis hit on 15 of 25 passes for 225 yards and a pair of touchdowns on 20 and 2-yard passes.

The Cadets added another 101 yards on the ground to amass 326 yards.

Piner's only score came on a 57-yard punt return in the final period.

Davis hit Chris Pidgeon with a 20-yard TD toss in the first period and threw to end Dave Page in the second period for another score. Fullback Jim Lincoln's 80-yard punt return rounded out the cadet scoring. Lincoln topped San Rafael rushers with 65 yards in 16 carries.

Piner managed to get past the midfield stripe only once in the game.

San Rafael High Ties Canyon 7-7

San Rafael High School's football team got a close look at the promised land as the game-ending gun sounded, leaving the Marin County team short of a winning touchdown and some consolation with a 7-7 tie at Canyon High in Castro Valley Saturday night.

San Rafael came out with a wide-open attack, and a fairly stifling defense.

Quarterback Bill Joost limbered up his throwing arm for 30 passes, 11 of them finding their mark for 126 yards.

One of the passes, a 29-yarder to Sam Crowell, set San Rafael up for its only touchdown on the Canyon four-yard line in the first period. Fullback Dan Walker took it in from two yards out two plays later.

Canyon's only touchdown came in the second period and it was on a busted play that converted into a 40-yard touchdown pass.

San Rafael's defense, led by monster man Roger Widmer with eight unassisted tackles, contained Canyon the rest of the way but the offense could not muster a winning drive.

Halfback Dick Loomis led the San Rafael ground attack with 42 yards in five carries.

WEST COAST FOOTBALL

Cal, Stanford, USC, UCLA Triumph In 1966 Openers

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Big Eight has kicked off its 1966 football season in auspicious fashion, with five of the eight member teams emerging victorious.

Only one contest, California's 21-6 win over Washington State at Spokane, was a conference encounter, so the Berkeley Bears, rated as mediocre at best before the season, lead the Big Eight with a 1-0 mark.

A 108-yard return of a Washington State field goal attempt by Cal's Don Guest sparked the Bear win. The defensive back's run broke Hugh McElheney's 1951 league record of 100 yards.

The defense accounted for Cal's other two scores, as Wayne Stewart raced 71 yards with an intercepted pass in the second quarter and Jerry Bradley 73 yards with a fourth quarter punt.

Washington State scored its only points on a pair of 33-yard field goals by Ted Gerela, who also booted the fateful fielder run back by Guest.

Southern California's nationally-ranked teams, UCLA and the University of Southern California, disposed of Pittsburgh and Texas, respectively.

USC contained Texas' heralded sophomore quarterback, Bill Bradley, at Austin and held on for a 10-6 win.

A rugged Trojan defense, anchored by 230-pound Ray May and 205-pound guard Larry Petrill, held the Longhorns at bay until the final period, when Bradley scored from three yards out.

The Trojans tallied first on a 23-yard field goal by Tim Rossovich in the opening quarter, and added the lone touchdown the next period when quarterback Troy Winslow rolled in from nine yards out.

UCLA's Bruins demolished the outclassed Panthers, 57-14, and the score wasn't completely indicative of UCLA's superiority, for Bruin reserves played much of the second half when Pittsburgh scored its two touchdowns.

Junior quarterback Gary Beban completed eight of 13 passes for 100 yards and carried the ball nine times for 79 yards before he was relieved. Backfield mate Mel Farr tallied three touchdowns as UCLA rolled up 336 yards rushing and 130 yards through the air.

Stanford had to rally from 11 points behind in the fourth quarter to eke out a 25-21 win over underdog San Jose State at Stanford. Gene Washington, a sophomore quarterback, ran four yards for one touchdown and passed 31 yards to end Bob Conrad to pull out the game.

In Seattle, Washington scored all its points in the second and third periods for a 19-7 victory over Idaho. The Vandals scored first on a 25-yard pass by John Foruria to Manny Murrell, but Washington went ahead on runs of 18 yards by Tom Sparlin, one by Jeff Jordan and 11 by Jim Cope.

Oregon State was crushed, 41-0, by Michigan State at Ann Arbor in a rematch of the two 1965 Rose Bowl teams.

The state's other representative, the University of Oregon, fared almost as poorly, losing 17-0 to Oklahoma at Norman, Okla.

Marin Tar Runners Win Opening Meet

College of Marin's cross country team won its opening meet of the season Saturday, 24-35, over visiting Laney College of Oakland.

Mark Byers was the outstanding runner for the Tars, traversing Marin's three-mile course (located in the Kentfield hills just above Phoenix Lake) in 18:06 seconds.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Uranium Explorations Are Likely To Step Up

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q: "I believe many more atomic plants will be appearing, using a lot of uranium now in short supply. Can you suggest any uranium stocks for a 10-year investment?" P. K.

A: The nuclear generating plant received a powerful boost from the Tennessee Valley Authority's decision to install the biggest nuclear-powered generator ever designed. TVA's decision is likely to induce other distributors to get out their pencils and slide rules when new plants are under consideration. With the market for uranium expanding, we may expect increased exploration by the mining companies and the appearance of new competitors.

Leading U. S. miner is United Nuclear, presently involved in merger negotiations with Cities Service. Both UNC and Kerr-McGee have good long-range appeal. The latter derives about 20 per cent of its net income from uranium operations and is believed to control 24 per cent of total U. S. reserves. A more speculative long-term holding would be Western Nuclear. Investment risk lies in the probability of lower prices for ore and processing services and competition increases and some question about volume sales to offset this. In 1970 the Atomic Energy Commission will cease purchasing uranium. Producers will have to rely entirely on commercial sales and the ability of the utility companies to take up the slack. It is not certain they will be ready to do so by that date. In the past 12 years, 18 other large nuclear plants have been contracted for and there are some overseas customers buying U.S. uranium.

Q: "Will you please explain the relation between the OTC stock called Insurance Securities and the investment certificate which I own in the Insurance Securities Trust Fund?" M.W.

A: Both of these firms were organized in California in 1938. Insurance Securities is the management unit which sponsors and administers the affairs of an open-end investment trust. The latter is the Insurance Securities Trust Fund of which you own a portion, as indicated by your investment certificate.

Market Shuts Lower In Sluggish Session

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed lower today, ending a sluggish session.

Volume for the day was estimated at 4.8 million shares compared with 5.16 million on Friday.

Prices started the day firmly but caution increased gradually.

Brokers said that the stock market community seemed to be waiting to make up its mind following last week's out-size advance of 38.75 points in the Dow Jones industrial average.

Some influential blue chips were down sharply. Du Pont was off between 4 and 5 points such as General Motors, American Telephone and Standard Oil (New Jersey) declined from fractions to around a point.

Down about 3 points were Motorola and McKesson & Robbins. IBM lost 2.

Down a point or so were Fairchild Camera, Boeing, General Dynamics, Radio Corp., Zenith, International Telephone (ex dividend), Eastman Kodak, Merck and Pfizer.

New York Central (ex dividend) was down more than a point while Pennsylvania Railroad held a fractional gain. The stocks of these railroads showed scant reaction to news that the Interstate Commerce Commission had reaffirmed its approval of the pending merger.

International Nickel was up more than a point. A labor agreement has been ratified by union membership, it was reported.

Up about 2 were Chicago Great Western and KLM Airlines. Gains of a point or so were made by Vanadium Corp., Comsat and Korvette.

LuDells In San Rafael Is Sold; Pharis Names President Of Firm

Negotiations have been completed for the purchase of Ludell's in San Rafael from Dell and Lucinda Shuttleworth by Harold and Ada Love, who will take possession of the downtown chinaware and gift shop Oct. 1.

The Shuttleworths, who will continue in business here until then, recently opened another LuDell's store in Grass Valley where they plan to live after leasing their home in Fairfax.

LuDell's was first opened in Corte Madera in 1950 and moved to San Rafael the following year. It has been at 909 Fourth Street for about seven years.

The Loves formerly operated Love's Gift Shop in the Montecito Shopping Center. The store was closed last January. They plan no major changes at LuDell's, will keep the same staff and for the time being the same name.

CARL L. PHARIS of Santa Venetia has been elected president of the Pacific Mechanical Corp., general engineering contractor in Richmond. He was previously vice president.

JOHN J. SLATTER Yof Ross had been appointed account executive of Calender-Robinson Co., San Francisco general insurance brokerage firm. He was formerly manager of the brokerage department of Index Underwriters, Inc. and an account executive for 10 years.

Slattery

Dr. Peters

CONGRATULATIONS to Mrs. Janet Peters of San Rafael, who seems to have topped her spouse by one degree.

Husband Dr. Verdon J. Peters, new associate of San Rafael podiatrist Dr. J. Ticker, was recently graduated from the California College of Podiatry with a degree of D. P. (Doctor of Podiatry). He also has degrees as Associate of Science (A.S.) and Bachelor of Science (B.S.)

But wife Janet, who has been a registered nurse at the college hospital since it opened seven years ago and is operating room supervisor, also starred in the graduation ceremonies.

In recognition of her accomplishments she was awarded a "PhT." (Put Hubby Through).

URBAN PLANNING SPECIALISTS Douglas H. S. Duncan and Warren W. Jones have consolidated their activities into a single firm, Duncan and Jones, with offices at 2161 Shattuck Avenue, Berkeley. They are currently retained for planning consultant services by the cities of San Rafael, Fairfax and Mill Valley, as well as by a number of other Bay Area communities.

Duncan, one-time principal planner with Ruth and Krushkov, became associated in consultation work early this year with Jones, who then operated his own business in Berkeley.

REAL ESTATE. Donald L. Suhr Jr. of Ross has been appointed general sales manager of Frank Howard Allen and Co.

He was perviously with Coldwell, Banker and Co., Fox and Carskadon, Inc. and recently with Dohemann and Co. in the real estate development field. . . . John Crisci of Terra Linda has joined the sales staff of William Bush Realty, San Rafael. He was previously with Dawson Associates, Mill Valley.

WHY A COW in a bank?

That's the question a number of passersby ask as they look through the window of Bank of Marin's foyer and find a life size Guernsey gazing placidly back at them.

Marin business is also bank business, and the county's dairies — 115 of them — still represent our biggest agricultural business. They add up to a bovine population of 20,000, that produces over nine million dollars a year income.

DONALD A. SMITH of San Anselmo has been appointed district group representative of the San Francisco group office of Sun Life Assurance Co. of Canada, in charge of group sales in Northern California. He joined the company in 1963 after several years of insurance experience.

Stocks Deal

SAN FRANCISCO — Foremost Dairies, Inc., of San Francisco will purchase 550,000 most will hold 2,385,548 shares, which represents approximately 51 per cent of the outstanding McKesson stock.
